FROM OUT OF THE PAST — U.J. Maynard (right), curator of exhibits on the Michigan History Mobile, details for Miss Diane Covert, Romulus librarian, and Frank J. Tolish, director of parks and recreation for Romulus, one of the many exhibits from out of Michigan's past. The history mobile arrived in Romulus on Monday for a June 5-11 stay. It is parked at the Romulus Municipal Building, 11111 S. Wayne Rd., between 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Admission is free.

Police chief blasts local park security

By HENRY CANTIN

Huron Township Police Chief Christopher Maciolek Monday blasted the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority for not providing an adequate park police force and other police security measures at the Lower Huron Metropolitan Park.

The authority is the owner and operator of nine parks located in Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

The Lower Huron Metropolitan Park embraces 3,500 prime acres of Huron Township land, Maciolek reported. The park also is located near the City of Belleville and Van Buren Township and is frequently used by residents from these communities as well as from all of Metropolitan Detroit area.

Chief Maciolek criticized the park authority for creating attendance problems and other law enforcement problems in its operation of the park.

The park authority employs nine park rangers in Lower Huron Metropolitan Park. These rangers have been deputized by the administrations of both Huron and Van Buren Townships.

"The park has been nothing but a nuisance to the township the last three or four years," Maciolek said in voicing criticism against the park administration.

"In my opinion, park officials are not providing an adequate park police force to handle the many problems that arise in a large park the size of Lower Huron Metropolitan Park. I am not criticizing the officers. It is not their fault for the present situation. I don't want to jeopardize the park rangers. Our relationships with them have been good, but I do criticize park administration for employing 'too light' a police force for the job at hand," Maciolek added. He reported that on the recent Memorial Day weekend, when 20,000 persons were in the park on Sunday and 30,000 persons on Monday (Memorial Day), only two police officers per shift were employed on Sunday and three police officers on Monday.

"The one-man patrol cars used on these days had the police officers at times six to seven miles apart from each other. I hate to think what might have happened if a major incident occurred. I certainly feel the park administration should hire more men and cars for patrol assignments," Maciolek said. "I get tired of patrolling their problems, let alone township law enforcement," Maciolek added.

He said local residents are paying the bill for park problems. "I am definitely not against going to the park to assist the officers, but I think the township board should get the park authority to pay for the services."

Maciolek cited other instances where he says the park is getting a "free ride."

"The township installed a $400,000 sewer facility into the park system for $75,000 in addition to the free township police, fire protection and water service. Our township taxpayers are footing the bill, and I don't think it is right."

Maciolek disclosed the Huron School District is being asked to pay $66,000 for a sewer tap-in, while the park administration gets a $400,000 sewer system for $75,000. He said in his opinion "this is certainly not right."

"The park created a problem by bringing in increasing crowds into the park. They have the responsibility of providing police protection and they are not doing it," Maciolek said.

Major improvements plan OK'd at Belvil Hospital

A major expansion improvement program at Belvil Community Hospital, 105 St. Belleville, was announced Monday by Hospital Administrator William E. Hinchey.

The new expansion program, to cost approximately $50,000, has been approved by the hospital's board of directors at the May directors meeting. Services in the X-ray, laboratory, pharmacy, dietary and medical records departments of the 71-bed medical facility will be improved by new and additional equipment, Hinchey said.

The equipment will be put into operation in the X-ray, laboratory and dietary departments of the hospital. Improvements in the medical records department will result in better documentation of medical records, in expediting use of its facilities and in additional help to provide better service, Hinchey said.

The announced expansion and improvement program is a long-delayed program, Hinchey reported. The delay was due to pending litigation in Wayne County Circuit Court involving a lawsuit initiated by Dr. E.S. Alford, co-founder and former operator of the Hospital.

Dr. Alford is seeking recovery of alleged financial interest in the hospital facilities. Possible settlement of the lawsuit is before Judge James Montante.

Increased use of hospital facilities by residents of Belleville and surrounding communities prompted the hospital board to authorize immediate action on the improvements and departmental expansions in order to keep faith not only with hospital clientele but with the Michigan State Department of Health.

Hinchey reported these hospital service improvements will not only provide "out-service" to the community of Belleville but also have been mandated by the State Department of Health.

The hospital board of directors, it was disclosed, is considering several major structural changes at the Belvil Community Hospital.

Raspberry favored contract

The roll call vote of the Romulus City Council on awarding the city's new three-year rubbish collection contract inadvertently omitted the vote of Council President Jimmie Raspberry.

The council's vote in awarding the contract to the American Rubbish Disposal Co. of 5757 N. Lilley Rd., Plymouth, was as follows:

In favor of the contract were Council President Jimmie Raspberry, Edmund W. Bizek, Ellis T. Pennington and Brooker R. Edwards. Those opposed to the three-year pact but in favor of a one-year contract were Councilmen James C. Stewart and William M. Oakley.

Councilman Stewart was reported to have voted in favor and in opposition to the contract in last week's issue of this newspaper.

Four vie for seats

Two school board spots up for election

Registered and qualified voters in the Romulus Community School District will cast ballots Monday to fill two four-year terms on the Romulus Board of Education.

The four candidates seeking election to the school board include two incumbents who are both seeking new four-year terms.

In addition to choosing candidates for the two terms expiring this year, voters will voice their feelings on a vocational-technical education program proposition submitted to the district's electorate by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

On the school election ballot also will be a cross-district proposition.

This proposal is an advisory vote in which the school board seeks voter opinion on cross-district busing.

Seeking election to the school board are the following candidates:

Jack A. Bath, 33, of 32115 Bruce St., Romulus, making his first bid for a position on the Romulus Board of Education.

Hulen Yates, 33, of 15555

Three Huron residents seek two school seats

Three Huron Township residents are candidates for two seats on the Huron Board of Education in Monday's school election.

The candidates for the two four-year terms on the school board include two incumbents. The men competing in this year's school race are:

Leo Kyko, 48, of 18904 Hannan Rd., New Boston, current president of the Huron Board of Education. He was elected in 1968 for four years and prior to that served one year by appointment.

Leopold Betz, 46, of 19031 Savage Rd., Belleville, also a present member of the school board. He was first elected a school board trustee in 1971 and is now seeking a four term.

Olaf F. McDavid, 46, of 30362 West Road, New Boston, trying a second time for a second on the school board. In 1971, McDavid was defeated when making his first bid for election to the school board.

The voters in the Huron School District, as well in 33 other school districts embraced in the Wayne County Intermediate School District, also will vote on a vocational-technical education program proposition.

The intermediate school district is proposing an assessment of one mill ($1 per $1,000 assessment) tax levy for the establishment and contracting for the operation of four area vocational centers in Wayne County.

The intermediate school district board reports, in presenting its vocational centers proposition to the voters, that present high school vocational programs are limited and cannot offer the training now demanded.

Brief background sketches on the candidates are printed elsewhere this issue.

Romulus shooting termed 'accident'

The fatal shooting of a 19-year-old Romulus youth Sunday has been ruled an accident by Wayne County Sheriff's detectives.

Dead is James Genaw, 12120 Sharon. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital at 4:45 p.m.

Capt. John Tront said Genaw was killed by a blast from a .410 gauge shotgun while at the home of a friend at 4:13 p.m.

Tront said Genaw and another youth, who police declined to identify were in the kitchen of a home at 29875 Eureka Rd. when Genaw's companion took the gun down from a shelf and began to examine it.

Trent said the youth checked the gun to see if it was loaded, pointed it at the floor and fired, hearing a click.

Satisfied the gun was empty, Tront said the youth started to replace the weapon when it accidentally discharged, striking Genaw in the chest.

Tront said no charges have been filed in the case.

Pupils question board's dismissal of chem teacher

The Romulus Board of Education will be asked to reconsider the dismissal of a chemistry and photography teacher at the Romulus Senior High School.

The teacher was dismissed two months ago by the Board of Education on the recommendation of high school principal Joel R. Carr.

The teachers is William Bajcz of 4307 Alexander Ct., Ecorse. His dismissal was made at the completion of his two-year probationary period, under the provisions of the Michigan tenure laws relative to the teaching profession, Carr reported.

Mrs. Betty Vlaz of 10969 Hannan Rd., Romulus, reported Monday a petition bearing the signatures of 80 students who attended classes taught by Bajcz will be presented to the school board at its Monday board meeting.

A check with the administration offices of the school district disclosed the matter will be on the school board's agenda for the June 12 session.

Mrs. Vlaz, who announced she is one of several parents supporting the students, reported the students feel the teacher's dismissal was unfair.

The petition stated:

"We undersigned, being students of Mr. William Bajcz in photography and chemistry, do respectfully request the Romulus School Board's reconsideration of his termination of his employment.

"We do so because of our firm belief in his teaching ability and sincere devotion to better education for us and future students.

"It seems unfair ... to allow a promising teacher's career to be jeopardized.

"We the parents of the students will attend the June 12 board meeting in an effort to have the board reconsider."

Carr reported Monday the teacher was dismissed for unsatisfactory performance during his probationary period.

PREPARING FOR CHICKEN BARBECUE — The chefs dig right in there to make sure their specialty, barbecued chicken, will appeal to the mouth-watering appetites of those attending Saturday's chicken barbecue at Kennedy Park. The Romulus Rotary Club sponsored the barbecue, one of the community's most popular events.

TOE TAPPER — Ernest Block, 76, made his fiddle sing and set many toes a 'tappin' last week when he performed in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools Continuing Education senior citizens club talent show. Block, a resident of 14724 Middlebelt, Romulus, is a member of the Romulus senior citizens group.

School board candidates answer questionnaire

Voters in the Van Buren, Huron and Romulus School districts will take to the polls Monday to choose among the candidates running for election in the respective districts.

As a service to the readers, Associated Newspapers sent questionnaires to the 11 candidates, asking them:

"What is your opinion on cross-district busing, or what alternative?"

Following are their replies along with background information.

In Van Buren, four candidates are vying for two available school board seats. They are:

Van Buren

Dr. Richard R. Muse, O.D., 45, of 12509 Beck Rd., Belleville, incumbent school board member, has been a resident of Belleville for 18 years. He is a doctor of optometry with offices on Main Street in Belleville.

Dr. Muse is a graduate of Wilbur Wright High School, Detroit, Wayne State University and Northern Illinois College of Optometry (1953).

He and his wife, Madeleine, are the parents of two children, Nancy, 15, Richard, Jr., 13.

Dr. Muse has served two four-year terms on the school board including his current term. He is a member of the Belleville Rotary Club, Wayne County Society of Optometrists, Michigan Optometric Association. He has held several posts with the local Rotary club and is a Navy veteran.

Dr. Muse said he is seeking re-election because "I enjoy working with the community, the students and the staff and the problems we all face in educating our children."

"I believe my experience as a member of the school has provided me with an insight to these problems. With this background and my desire to work for the betterment of the education of our children, I feel I am qualified."

On the cross-district busing question, Dr. Muse said:

"I am not in favor of cross-district busing. I am in favor of busing to school safely and as possible."

Cross-district busing is an attempt to deal with the effect rather than the cause of racial imbalance in the schools. It interferes with the concept of the neighborhood school and the accompanying pride and participation of the community. The time and money could be more wisely spent on classroom education."

Mrs. Doris J. Roe of 276 Huron River Dr., Belleville, an incumbent seeking her second four-year term on the school board, has been a resident of the Belleville community for the last 30 years. She is the mother of two daughters.

Mrs. Roe attended high school in Norway, Mich. is graduated from Eastern Michigan University and received her master of arts degree from the University of Michigan. She also attended Teachers College, Columbia University.

She has been active in community affairs for many years. She is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and secretary-elect of the Michigan Federation. She is past president of the Belleville Women's Study Club and Women's Society of Christian Service. She also was awarded the Woman of the Year Award of the BPW.

In commenting on her re-election bid, Mrs. Roe said, "It is natural for one to work in an area with which he feels he is reasonably competent. Giving my time, interest and energy is my way of continuing to be a contributing member of the community."

On the question of cross-district busing, Mrs. Roe said, "I am opposed to busing between districts, for I consider it an exploitation of children, a risk to the health of the children and that it significantly impinges upon the educational process."

Ralph A. Bird, 48, of 46470 Bemis Rd., Belleville, has been a resident of Belleville community for the last 47 years and has resided at his present address for the past 22 with his wife Arlene.

Bird is making his second bid for a school board post, being defeated in 1971. He is a graduate of Belleville High School and attended Michigan State Normal College. He is an employee at Draw-Tite Division of Hoover Ball & Bearing Co. located at 14857 Martinsville Rd., Belleville.

On the question of cross-district busing, Bird said:

"I oppose busing within or between districts to create a more balanced integration in education because the majority of families have chosen their homestead mainly for the educational system facilities, secondly for the location of their employment."

"I don't believe you can bus a student to another environment for schooling for 30 hours, bus them back to their homes for the balance of the week and still progress intellectually. Their schools should be upgraded to par by those whose taxes support them."

Richard A. Hansor, 27, of 17600 Martinsville Rd., Belleville, is a native of Belleville. He and his wife, Beverly, have resided at their present home for the last five years.

He is a graduate of Belleville High School and has attended Arizona State College, Cleary College and Henry Ford Community College Trade School, graduating from college in 1969.

Hansor, a trained tool designer and safety supervisor, is employed by the Horst Manufacturing Co. as manufacturing engineer.

He and his wife, Beverly, are the parents of three children, Kristy, 6, Karin, 4, and Keith, 2.

He is a member of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers and the American Ordinance Association. He was vice-president of the PTO at the Haggerty Road Elementary School (1971-72) prior to a redrawing of the school's boundaries.

Commenting on his candidacy, Hansor said, "I have not been satisfied with the long range effects of some of the decisions by the present school board. I have attended many meetings, and I don't feel our board has been able to keep up with the changes in the demands of our district."

"In the next few years there will be several critical issues before our board and if we are trying to 'catch up' now, it can only get worse if our board doesn't have the trained insight to stay ahead of our needs."

"I think my most important qualification is the very fact that I have three young children that will attend the schools this district can provide for the next 15 years. This gives me a direct interest in the decisions that our board will make. My work involves dealing with many factors that determine the ability of a corporation to operate competitively. This requires dealing with people, methods, unexpected situations and economic changes, much the same as our school board must operate."

On the cross district busing question, Hansor said:

"I am against cross-district busing as the answer to today's integration problems. I will always support the idea of neighborhood schools. Patterns of life are formed in the family and community as well as the schools and I don't feel you can help any student by removing him from his predominant environment for a few hours each day. Any attempt to change the life factors of a young individual must include more than just the classroom time. If there are racial problems in a specific area, then the overall cause must be corrected, but exchanging students with another school district will not help race relations."

"Every student should receive the same standard of education at any school. I think that all parents would prefer to see their children attend schools in their own area if they can offer the same opportunities as any other district."

A fifth candidate who filed nominating petitions for one of the school board positions has withdrawn from the race. He is James J. Harvey, 49, of 7173 Belleville Rd., Belleville. Harvey's withdrawal notice was filed after the deadline. His name will be on the ballot. On Monday, Harvey requested voters not to vote for him but for one of the other candidates of their choice.

Romulus

In the Romulus Community School District voters will fill two posts on the Romulus Board of Education.

There are four candidates seeking the two four-year terms which expire this year.

Davis B. Draper, 60, 11019 Elmview, has been on the school board since 1959.

He has been a Romulus resident for the last 34 years and has lived at his present address for the past 13. He and his wife, Helen, are the parents of two grown sons, Richard, 36, and James, 24.

Draper attended Fordson High School in Dearborn and the Henry Ford Community College. He is a construction estimator with the steel company of the Ford Motor Co.

Draper is a member of the Romulus Planning Commission, serves on the board of directors and is past president of the Romulus Kiwanis Club, director of the Great Lakes Chapter of the American Association of Cost Engineers, and a member of the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers.

In commenting on his qualifications for the post, Draper said:

"In addition to service on the Romulus Board of Education for 12 years, one year as trustee, one year as president and 10 years as secretary, I have served as the district delegate to the Southeastern Council of Governments, regularly representing the board in the Wayne County Association of Schools Boards and generally attended state and national school board conventions. This experience, coupled with participation in numerous educational study sessions and seminars, well qualify me for continued service on the school board."

On cross-district busing, Draper said:

"First, I am opposed to cross-district school busing. I believe this strategem was devised as a desperate measure to greatly accelerate the process of racial integration. Unfortunately, in selecting cross-district school busing to accomplish this change, little children become the pawns of a social struggle."

"The disadvantages of cross-district busing, such as additional expense, usurpation of the student's time, poorer communication between home and school and increased racial tension, are now well known and need no elaboration. The ultimate alternative is to bring all schools, including those in the inner city, up to acceptable physical and educational standards and to promote better living conditions for all disadvantaged people in our nation."

Gervazio Canejo, 42, of 16321 Dodge St., Romulus, incumbent seeking his third term on the Romulus Board of Education, has been a resident of Romulus for the past 20 years. He is owner and operator of the Canejo Trucking Co. Inc. of Romulus.

Canejo attended the Ipswich High School, Ipswich, Mass., graduating in 1948. He also attended Lawrence Institute of Technology and studied engineering.

He and his wife, Joretta, are the parents of six children, Terry, 19; Chris, 18, Jean, 17, Cynthia, 15, Jeff, 10, and Bruce, 6.

Canejo, who was elected to the school board in 1967, is a member of the Romulus Kiwanis Club and is president-elect of the club. He is a member of the PTA at Merriman Elementary School in Romulus.

On the question of cross-district busing, Canejo said: "I am not in favor of cross-district busing to achieve racial balance in our schools. I believe in having neighborhood schools where communication between parent and teacher can be better attained."

Jack A. Bath, 33, of 32115 Bruce St., has been a Romulus resident for the last eight years. He and his wife, Anne, are the parents of three children, Deborah, 11, Jacqueline, 9, and Carl, 5.

Bath, who is making his first bid for the school board, is employed as a retail manager of Jacobson's. He is a graduate of Fordson High School in Dearborn.

Bath is active in the Hayti Elementary School PTA, the Romulus Democratic Club, Romulus Kiwanis Club and Romulus Homeowners Association. He has served in various official capacities in these organizations. He also has served on the Romulus Board of Appeals and is presently on the executive board of the Community United for Action (CUFA).

He commenting on his candidacy, Bath said:

"I am unhappy with the way the present system is run. I do not believe our school board took a strong enough position on busing. They in fact, did not agree to an advisory vote of the citizens (as most school districts did) until urged to do so by myself and Hulen Yates (another school board candidate)."

"I fulfill all legal requirements for this position. I am presently and have been very active in my community. I feel my activities within the community and my experience in dealing with people and the knowledge I have gained from them more than qualify me to fill this position."

On the cross-district busing question, Yates said:

"I am opposed to cross-district busing. I am in complete accord with neighborhood schools. I believe children should attend schools closest to their homes. I believe in local control of local schools."

Hulen Yates, 33, of 15555 Colbert, is making his second bid for the school board. In 1971 he was defeated.

Yates has been a Romulus resident for the last four years. He and his wife, Dorcas, are the parents of six children, Robert, 17, Monica, 14, Betty, 14, Jodi, 12, Hulen Jr., 5, and Debra, 4.

He is a graduate of Lewis County High School in Lewis County, Tenn. He is a carpenter and member of Local 19 of the Carpenters' Union.

Yates is a member of the Merriman Elementary School PTA, the Romulus Democratic Club and the Romulus Homeowners Association. He has served the Merriman PTA as vice-president and is vice-president of the Romulus Democratic Club. He is delegate in the presidential primary election.

In commenting on his bid Yates voiced the same feeling as Bath, relative to the school board's failure to take a position on cross-district busing until urged to do so by himself and Bath.

"I am legally qualified to fill the position I seek. I deal with people everyday in my employment. Because of this and my involvement in community affairs, I understand people and their problems. This, I believe qualifies me for the position."

On cross-district busing, Yates said:

"I am opposed to cross-district busing. I do not believe in cross-district busing. I am in complete accord with neighborhood schools. I believe children should attend schools closest to their homes. I believe in local control of local schools."

Huron

Three candidates, including two incumbents, are seeking to fill two four-year terms on the Huron Board of Education at the annual school election Monday, June 12.

They are Leo Kyko and Leopold Betz incumbents, and Olaf F. McDavid, who is making his second bid for the school board.

Leo Kyko, 48, of 18904 Hanna Rd., New Boston, seeking re-election to another four-year term, has been a resident of the New Boston community for the last 27 years. He and his wife, Grace, are the parents of four children, Lee, 24, Jan, 21, Kathy, 19, and Mary, 14.

Kyko is a self-employed building contractor. He is active in the New Boston Rotary Club and holds a perfect 17 1/2-year attendance record with the club. He has served the local Rotarians as club secretary, vice-president, treasurer and president.

He was first elected to the Huron Board of Education in 1968 for a four-year term. He also was appointed for one year. Kyko is now president of the board.

On the question of cross-district busing, Kyko said, "I'm against cross-district busing to achieve racial balance."

Leopold Betz, 46, of 19031 Savage Rd., Belleville, is seeking his first four-year term. He ran for trustee in 1971 to fill an unexpired one-year term and was elected.

Betz and his wife, Elizabeth Janet, are the parents of three children, Kevin Lee, 19, now in the U.S. Navy, Kellen Lee, 10, and Raymond Lee, 13.

He attended the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and Newark College of Engineering, Newark, N.J. Betz is the owner and operator of a consulting engineering firm. He is engaged in mechanical engineering of industrial process equipment.

"After serving one year as trustee and realizing how much should and must be done to improve the educational offerings in Huron Township, I believe it is a civic responsibility to serve the community in any way a citizen can. My interest lies with children and their education. The solution of mankind must rest with the children of the world."

"A school system is much like, and is in fact, a very large business and requires considerable administrative skills in all business areas. My personal experience over the years has and is in administrative areas such as accounting, personnel and budgeting. But the most important facet of my experience is my one year as trustee of the Huron Board of Education. I want to be able to use this very valuable experience."

On the question of cross-district busing, Betz said:

"I am violently opposed to cross-district busing as a method of reducing national segregation. I still believe that all peoples have the right to determine where their children will be schooled, those decisions a result of where you have chosen to live. We all 'check out' the schools before we move into an area. This decision in a democratic society such as ours is influenced by our financial ability. We live in areas that we can afford."

"I can't afford to live in Grosse Pointe or Birmingham, yet it would be presumptuous for me to wish or expect my children to be bused to these communities. It's my fault I don't live in Grosse Pointe or Birmingham. I didn't keep my nose to the old grind stone, but I don't hold the residents of these cities responsible for the education of my children. I am responsible and my children shall not be bused elsewhere without my approval."

"As a board of education member, I shall fight to see that your children are not bused to other school districts without your full approval."

Olaf F. McDavid, 46, of 30362 West Rd., New Boston, is making his second for the school board. In 1971, when he first ran for the school board, he was defeated.

McDavid has been a resident of the New Boston area for the last 19 years. He and his wife, Olga, are the parents of five children, Peggy, 23, Duane, 18, Billy, 14, Norman, 9, and Gwen, 1 1/2.

He was graduated from the Whellright High School of Mines and Minerals, in Kentucky, and has a degree in mining engineering. He is presently employed as a millwright in Wyandotte.

McDavid is active in Little League activities and has been with the Boy Scout movement for the last five years. He is both on the Boy Scout and Little League boards in Huron Township and is a participant in the Huron Township drug program.

His wife is president of National Action Group (NAG) in New Boston and the Huron Township Citizens Committee.

McDavid said he is running "because of general concern for the children of Huron Township. We have dropped so low in the last five years that we are in the bottom four per cent in the test the State Department of Education conducted in our school system. There is no excuse for this. A little concern for the children is needed."

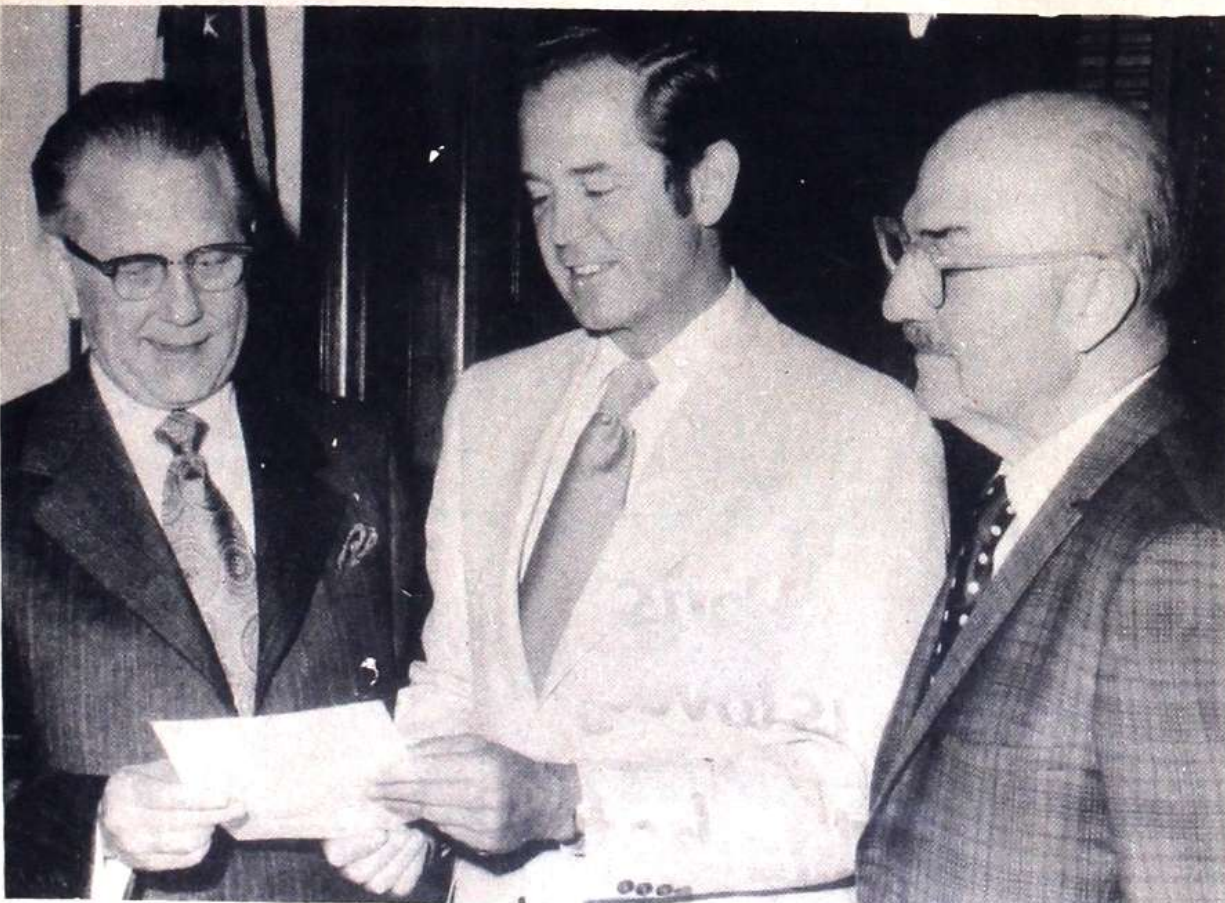

"I feel a board member must be someone who is aware of what is going on in the town and also in the state. We live in a time where every issue can have two meanings and the people must know what they are doing when they sit on a school board. I never miss a school board meeting if I can help it. I also understand the function of the school board."

On the question of cross-district busing, McDavid said: "I think this is just another way for the government to get a little more control of our children. If it was a racial matter, they could correct it with housing. You correct it with the adults, not by taking the children out of their homes and community. I supported NAG all the way on this."

"I do not believe in redistricting. It is the same thing under a different heading. If the government wants to change the racial balance, they could see that it is done with their own federal housing they have in most districts. This would be the answer instead of going against what our country stands for - Freedom of choice."

Six granted contracts

The Romulus Board of Education has granted 1972-73 employment contracts to six teachers. They are Miss Patricia Gentile, Miss Marilyn Schaltenbrand, Mrs. Susan House, Kenneth Pfaffenbach, Mrs. Mary Ann Allen and Andrew Miller.

Oakland, Macomb and Livingston. With Milliken are Mack W. Worden (left), General Motors vice-president and chairman of the Citizens Committee for Continuing progress in Recreation, and Kurt Keydel, chairman.

Injunction stops sale of bonds

State court to hear stadium lawsuit

By HENRY CANTIN

The Michigan State Supreme Court will hear arguments tomorrow (Thursday) on the constitutionality of $126 million in bonds sold in April by the Wayne County Stadium Authority to erect Detroit's proposed riverfront multi-sports stadium.

Gov. William G. Milliken has requested the state's highest court to hear appeal on a lawsuit initiated in Wayne County Circuit Court by Mayor Royce E. Smith of Belleville and a Grosse Pointe investment counselor, Marc Allen, and his attorney, William Ross Kelley.

The lawsuit, which ended in circuit court victory for the Belleville mayor, sought to halt the construction of the proposed stadium, contending the sale of the bonds to finance construction is public financing of a private business.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Blair Moody Jr., who heard the lawsuit, handed down a court injunction last Thursday permanently restraining the authority from delivering the $126 million in county-backed bonds.

The domed stadium next to Cobo Hall in Detroit would have the Detroit Tigers baseball club as its primary tenant.

In a 53-page opinion, Judge Moody ruled that the riverfront is being built by Wayne County mostly for use by the Tigers, a private business, and that such an arrangement violates the Michigan Constitution.

Judge Moody, in his opinion, wrote that the lease agreement between the Wayne County Stadium Authority and the Tigers "is more than just a bad deal made by the county. The club (Tigers) receives the use and profit - making potential of a proposed magnificent edifice for a relative pittance."

Mayor Smith was highly elated when the court ruled in his favor. He said, "I still believe there is justice for the people in this country. The court's decision proves it."

Mayor Smith, 56, a gasoline and oil distributor, has been Belleville's mayor for four terms. He announced Monday that he will be at the Michigan Supreme Court tomorrow. He intends to go all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary and if "we can financially afford it."

An Anti-Stadium Fund Inc., recently formed under the assumed names department of the Wayne County clerk's office, is still accepting contributions to finance further appeal.

Contributions can be sent to the Anti-Stadium Fund, P.O. Box 146, Belleville.

The lawsuit in Wayne County Circuit Court was filed barely 24 hours before the bonds went on sale April 19. As a result of the court action, the bond buyers reported that they would not accept delivery of the bonds, the final step in the bond sale process unless the suit was settled before June 19.

Judge Moody, in his opinion, said that he based his ruling on a minute examination of the terms of the stadium lease agreement.

The agreement shows, Moody wrote, that the burden of repayment of the bonds will fall on taxpayers through a hotel-motel tax, horse racing tax and possibly through property taxes, if revenues are not as high as expected.

The judge noted that the Tigers' rent on the stadium would average $638,000 a year for 40 years for which they will receive:

—Almost exclusive use of the stadium property tax free for more than half of each year.

—Exclusive use of office space, box seats and parking spaces, valued at a total of $278,000 a year.

—Exclusive claim to portions of an unknown amount of net income from radio and television broadcast of ball games and half of the net income from ticket sales and concessions totaling an estimated $7.7 million yearly.

Interest ups cost to $344 million

Mayor Royce E. Smith, who has won the first round in his battle to prevent the construction of Detroit's proposed riverfront stadium, disclosed Monday that the cost would be more than twice the announced $126 million.

When interest on the proposed bond issue is considered, the total cost would be about $344 million, according to the mayor.

Mayor Smith and a Grosse Pointe investment counselor, Marc Allen, and his attorney William Ross Kelley, Friday won a permanent injunction against the Wayne County Stadium Authority restraining the authority from developing the domed multi-sports stadium.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Blair Moody issued the injunction.

In issuing a financial breakdown of stadium costs, Mayor Smith contended a private business would be financed by public funds.

The bonds sold to finance construction of the proposed stadium are guaranteed by the full faith and credit of the people of Wayne County as pledged by the Board of Commissioners.

Estimated construction cost of stadium and parking is $71,751,318, with site work and utilities costs at $6,914,753; excavation cost, $5,807,953; architect and engineering fees, $5,358,831; contingencies, $3,407,645; other construction costs, $2,225,000; playing field, $1 million; maintenance and operating equipment, $400,000; signs and graphics, $250,000; separate and additional parking (2,000 spaces), $5,409,500; additional land, $13,025,000; administrative administration expense, $475,000.

Application of bond proceeds before stadium opens would be $21,157,500; legal financing and bond financing, $1,085,000 or a total expenditure of $138,767,500 before the stadium opens its doors.

This total is reduced by the sum of $6,300,000 earned from investments pending construction completion or a final total of $126 million, Smith said.

Smith also reported the $126 million total does not include the huge amount of interest that will have to be paid on the bonds.

New rubbish collection pact begins Monday

Weekly rubbish collection under Romulus' new rubbish collection contract began on Monday of this week.

The city's new three-year rubbish collection contract has been awarded to the American Rubbish Disposal Co. of 5757 N. Lilley Rd., Plymouth.

The new contract, which will cost the city $318,808 for the three-year period, subject to additional charges as the number of weekly pickups are increased, calls for once a week complete pick-up.

The city's rubbish pick-ups will be made on the regular days now scheduled throughout the city.

John Runco, general manager of American, Monday detailed the items that will not be picked up by his truck crews. They are industrial plant rubbish, dead animals, objects over 5½ feet in length, objects weighing more than 175 pounds, stumps and logs, broken cement or concrete and putrescent waste.

Residents who may have the above items will have to transport them or make arrangements to have them transported to the firm's land fill, located on Lilley Road between the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad tracks and Michigan Avenue, Runco said.

Romulus man arrested in Melody Art raid

By KEVIN FOLEY
Daily Eagle Staff Writer

The Inkster Police Department stepped up the pressure on local drug dealers again yesterday by enacting another raid at the Melody Art Theater.

Lt. Wilbert Reid said five persons, including two juveniles, were arrested inside the theater at 28765 Michigan Ave. when a team of undercover police officers made a series of narcotics purchases between midnight and 2:35 a.m.

One unidentified police officer suffered a minor stab wound to the shoulder during the raid, but he was treated and released from Wayne County General Hospital. The officers' alleged attacker managed to escape into the crowd of 1,200 persons, police said, and was never apprehended.

Lt. Reid said a small quantity of suspected narcotics was confiscated from those arrested, but the substances have not yet been positively identified through analysis yet.

The three adults charged with possession and sale of narcotics were identified as Darryl K. Clark, 21, of 10600 Osga, Romulus, Richard D. Modzell, 18, of 21036 Lockwood, Taylor, and William D. Bradley, 24, of 19996 Seminole, Detroit.

Clark and Modzell stood mute at their arraignments in 22nd District Court yesterday, and pleas of not guilty were entered in their behalf by Judge John McCartney. Both were released on $2,500 bond.

Bradley was scheduled to be arraigned to day.

The juveniles arrested were released to their parents pending the filing of petitions against them in probate court.

This was the third raid on the Melody since February, when police began their drive to close down the theater's rock concerts.

On Feb. 20 eight persons were arrested inside and outside the theater by Inkster, Westland and sheriff's metro squad officers in the first drug raid.

Following that, the Inkster City Council drafted an ordinance that effectively banned the Sunday morning rock shows, but only for a few weeks.

In late April the rock concerts began again, and police say the drug peddling picked up where it left off.

On May 14, Inkster police hit the Melody again, this time arresting three persons on drug charges, one of them a 15-year-old girl.

Police and city officials openly admit their actions are designed to stir up a public outcry and force a permanent shutdown of the rock shows.

New nursery has open house

An open house and ribbon cutting ceremonies at the new Durbin Day Nursery, 27975 Eureka Rd., Romulus, will be held at 4:15 p.m. Friday.

The center will be open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. five days a week. Both part and full-time enrollments will be taken.

Officials from the Pre-School Service Corp. of Romulus, operators of the new nursery, as well as city officials will attend the ribbon cutting ceremonies.

say the theater is a nuisance — difficult to police because of the size and general hostility of the crowds to law enforcement officers — and is one of the biggest illegal drug "shopping centers" in the county.

To date, not one Inkster resident has been arrested for possession or sale of narcotics. In fact, very few Inkster youths attend the weekly concerts.

The large crowds that fill the theater from midnight to 5 a.m. every Sunday are made up mostly of white teenagers and young adults from the suburbs surrounding Inkster.

Police say one of the prime reasons the Melody is such a big attraction for young people is the availability and low price of the drugs there.

Security guards and theater officials are practically powerless to stop the trafficking, since they have no authority to search people entering the theater and because the buying and selling is done — since the first raid — clandestinely and selectively.

The favorite drug of the patrons seems to be amphetamines — speed, diet pills and other energy boosting capsules — but LSD and drugs passed off as THC, a synthetic marijuana derivative that is almost non-existent on the streets, have been confiscated.

Police say no heroin and very little marijuana have been seen at the Melody.

But despite what is sold and who sells it, police say their war against the drug peddlers at the Melody is only beginning.

'Where am I' Romulus man asks police

Donald Haggitt, 23, of 15080 Streamway St., Romulus, is being held by the Dearborn police on charges of breaking and entering and being drunk and disorderly.

Haggitt was taken into custody inside a bank, located across the street from the Henry Ford Memorial Library on Michigan Avenue in Dearborn.

Haggitt called the police and told them he was inside the bank and wanted to be outside. But, he didn't know where the bank was.

While Dearborn police officers started a search of every bank in the Dearborn area, Haggitt told Corp. Emerel Smith on desk-duty at the Dearborn police headquarters that he thought the bank was a motel. He explained that motel owners often lock up and go to bed late at night and that you have to pound on the door to wake them.

Haggitt's pounding broke the glass door at the bank and he decided to take a nap before calling the police. Smith said he finally talked Haggitt into looking out the window and describing what he saw.

When Haggitt said he saw a huge white building with a fountain in front of it, officers rescued him from the bank across the street from the Henry Ford Memorial Library — next door to the police station.

In our opinion

Lake-park property is too good to refuse.

Usually we believe in not pestering citizens with voting second or third times on various individual proposals, something that frequently happens with millages.

However, the citizens' advisory vote on Van Buren Township's proposed acceptance of Belleville Lake and Edison Pointe Park should be placed before the people one more time.

Granted, the recently held election -- and the one we're proposing be held at the next scheduled election -- serves only as an advisory to the township board. They are elections the board called just to see the electorate's opinion. Nothing was binding on the board.

It's terrific that the board would even ask for the citizens' opinion in this day and age of political bodies doing as they pretty much please and the public be damned.

Yes, the public spoke -- by a 1,801-1,384 margin on the negative side -- May 16 that it didn't want the township to accept the Detroit Edison Company's offer of the lake and the 110-acre recreational site on the north shore.

However, that vote has to be considered questionable in light of a last minute "scare" sheet -- don't they always seem to appear? -- that served only to raise doubts in the minds of the voters.

Oh, yes! Typical of most, but not all, such sheets, the last minute effort of "Concerned citizens" to have the proposal rejected was unsigned. That's always the signature of a person who doesn't know what he's talking about and has to remain anonymous.

The way we understand it, township acceptance of the property would eliminate $34,271 in taxes Detroit Edison pays locally. However, even more than that amount of money could be realized by the township through potential use of the property.

The site includes a large campground, currently used by Edison employees only but which could be opened into a needed public facility for which camping fees could be charged. Fees also could be charged for use of both the bathhouse and boat ramp, as well as other facilities that could be built.

A few businesses in Belleville itself are built on shoreline property that would be included in the Edison gift. Leases could be drawn up for these businesses, which currently pay nothing, we understand, to Edison.

Acquisition of the property by the township can only be advantageous. Even if the entire recreational project did go sour -- which we feel can't happen as the demands for such facilities continue to climb everywhere -- what's to prevent the township from eventually selling the land and realize a tremendous profit? Nothing.

While tactics used by the "Concerned Citizens" are deplorable, it's good to see responsible organizations like the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club take a more active interest in the project.

It's also fortunate that Edison is offering the township an extended time period to determine whether or not it wants to accept the property.

After all, Edison could sell the property to private developers, who then could turn the area into a highly profitable project and, if desired, even reduce the lake to its former river bed and everyone would lose, except the developers.

We ask Van Buren Township to put the issue back on the ballot at the next scheduled election and explain what steps can be taken to make the area a desirable and sound financial investment.

Then we would ask the Van Buren citizens to support their township officials with an advisory "yes". A 110-acre lakefront parcel of land is too good to turn down.

Lottery won't cure financial problems

By JOHN E. McCauley State Senator 11th District

The Michigan State Senate is setting some sort of record for speed when it comes to passing my state lottery bill. If it were not for a constitutional requirement that the bill be in possession of the senate for five days, my measure would be in the house now.

One of the more encouraging developments during the past week was the decision of the Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems to do an about-turn and give some support to my measure.

The council had opposed passage of the constitutional amendment proposal, and it had been my thought that they would continue to oppose any idea of a lottery. However, Robert Hammond, the head of the council, has announced that so long as it appears obvious there will be a bill, his organization will support the concepts that are found in mind.

The council is made up of a broad base of church and church oriented organizations. I think its decision to look at the facts of the case, especially the factors that are built into my bill to make certain the state lottery is run honestly and at maximum benefit to the greatest number of Michigan residents, indicates how responsible this group is. I appreciate its consideration.

On another matter, I want to make it clear that my lottery bill does not cover the subject of bingo, and that there are bills in both Houses of the Legislature to take care of that problem. It was the consensus of the legislature that bingo is an entirely different form of lottery. More often than not, bingo games are conducted by churches and fraternal organizations, or in many cases, by senior citizens' groups.

I for one certainly do not want to tax bingo as heavily as we propose to tax the state lottery. After all, it is not the intention of the legislature to use this pastime as a source of any substantial revenue.

Thus, any law covering bingo has to be different than a law covering a state lottery. I personally feel this may result in putting control of the two different games of chance under different departments. In other words, I favor making it very clear there is a vast difference between bingo and the state lottery.

Before someone gets the idea the state lottery is the solution to all of our fiscal problems, let me make it plain that as the author of the bill, I do not think the lottery will have the great impact some of its supporters think it will.

The lottery will not solve the financial problems of the schools. It certainly will not solve the problems in Detroit, where the only answer is to have the residents of that city go to the polls and vote school millage comparable to the vast majority of the school districts in this state. If Detroit thinks the lottery is a free ride, then there's been a mistake made.

The lottery will not result in a lowering of any taxes in Michigan. Despite the continuing efforts of a growing number of legislators to keep state spending under control, the fact of the matter is that the state legislature has lost far too much of its responsibility for spending.

Too many revenues are earmarked, and too many programs are dictated by the federal government. There is not enough room for the legislature to dig into the problems of this state and take action. Unfortunately, not enough people know how the legislator's hands are tied, and too often they complain about spending, not knowing there is almost nothing we can do about it.

We did do something about the money that threatened to go down the rat hole of forced busing of school children for the purpose of some sort of "racial balance." The senate added an amendment to the school aid bill that banned such spending.

On the other hand, the school aid bill was passed, and I reluctantly voted against this bill. It is one of the harsh facts of government that a responsible legislator cannot support even the politically popular spending programs, for the reason that thus far I have not seen guarantees that each one of those who spends the money has a responsibility to come before the legislature or the people and explain fully where the money went and justify continued spending. Anyone who saw the television special last week on education the subject of higher education has an idea of what my concerns are.

If we are to get our house in order, there will be some hard and unpopular decisions ahead. I believe a majority of the citizens of the 11th State Senatorial District will support any decisions we can make to spend less, to tax less, and interfere less.

Vocational education pays off

By DON LEVERENZ, Vocational Education Director, Wayne County Intermediate School District

If you were to ask high school students what they would like to be doing after graduation from high school, most would probably indicate a desire to enter college.

Statistics available from the Michigan Department of Education indicate that though the college preparatory curriculum is successful in preparing 33 percent of our graduates to be accepted into higher education, unfortunately only 14 percent actually graduate from college.

If a student is not enrolled in a college preparatory curriculum, he would, in most cases, have a choice of two others, general and vocational.

If one can accept the fact that a graduate of the general curriculum would probably have difficulty selling himself to a prospective employer in today's complex and highly competitive labor market, then the general curriculum can also be called the "nothing" curriculum.

And what about the vocational curriculum? Several years ago, the Ford Foundation funded a study which was conducted by the American Institute for Research to determine what happens to high school graduates whose major curriculum was vocational education.

The study revealed some interesting information: Vocational education students get their first job quicker than academic graduates.

Vocational students enjoy substantially greater employment security than do academic graduates with no college education.

About 50 per cent enter into the occupation for which they trained, and 15 per cent enter into closely allied occupations.

50 per cent of the vocational education graduates reported they were exceptionally well-trained.

A comparison of vocational and academic graduates without a college education reveals no difference in conversational interests, leisure time activities, and affiliation with community organizations.

If the findings of this study are valid, vocational educators are to be commended. Unfortunately, far too few students are represented by these statistics. Recent statistics released by the Michigan Department of Education indicate that only 13 per cent of our high school students are enrolled in vocational courses (excluding Home Economics). If only 33 per cent of our students enter higher education and 13 per cent graduate with salable skills, then 54 per cent of our graduates are not prepared for the next step in their lives, the day following graduation from high school.

Concerned parents and other interested citizens will have the opportunity next Monday to approve a one-half charter levy to provide for the construction and operation of four area vocational-technical centers to be located in outer-Wayne County.

The centers would provide training in 40 different occupational areas, most of which are not being offered in today's schools. The centers would be available to all suburban Wayne County high school youth, adult education programs, and community college classes.

A "yes" vote next Monday will provide increased occupational opportunities for all Wayne County students.

Housing, not busing is education answer

To the editor:

On May 17, 1954, the U.S. Supreme Court passed the historic decision that the segregated public school systems were unconstitutional. Within the 18 years that the local school boards have handled the problem, more segregated schools have been established.

Now, with the Judge Roth intervention, an uproar condoning or condemning has affected us all. Perhaps a bouquet should go to the state government for finally doing something.

However, busing for integration throws brickbats at the needs of the so-called "disadvantaged" children who dwell in our cities, suburbs, and rural areas. The "mixed school" cannot help the student of either race adjust to his normal environment, since no mixed environment exists.

These children are not deprived of intelligence. They are confronted with middle-class values that are unrealistic. They face family instabilities.

Individually, they have poor self-concepts. Grouped, they have insecure peer associations.

Busing is not the answer for integrating often two existing societies. Children spend the majority of their lives not at school, but at home.

Therefore, seven hours of isolation in a different country does not mean understanding another's culture. Integration must begin with enforcing the fairer housing laws, and maintaining unprejudiced occupational opportunities.

Busing, which forces together groups which neither understand or recognize each other, may only result in further civil turmoil.

Can people forget dead GI's so easily?

To the editor:

Once again Memorial Day has come and gone. It is the one day set aside to honor the brave men who died to make our country a safe place to live in.

We still have men fighting to keep the terror and destruction of war from reaching our land. Are their sacrifices all in vain? Do the people really care?

The unconcern and discourtesy shown to the veterans and our flag in Belleville's recent Memorial Day parade makes me wonder.

Of the 32 organizations in Belleville, few joined the veterans in honoring and paying tribute to their departed comrades. Those men died for you. Is a few hours of your time, one day a year, spent in honoring their memory and the flag they so proudly defended too great a sacrifice for you? Think about it.

House okays women's rights, pollution bills

The legislature has moved on two women's rights measures in recent weeks, one of them, as I reported last week, ratification by the House and Senate of a proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution banning discrimination on account of sex.

If the proposal is ratified by the legislatures of 38 states, it will be added to the federal constitution. Michigan became the 18th state to do so. It won House approval by a 90-18 vote, and four days later was ratified in the Senate by voice vote.

Previously, the House and Senate approved a bill which guarantees women equal rights in public accommodations. Shortly afterward, the bill was signed into law.

The new law extends present statutes which apply to race or color, but do not mention sex. Supporters of this law point out that the old statutes made it possible to deny women the use of such public accommodations as restaurants, hotels, theaters, recreational facilities, housing and even certain stores.

Another new law, also immediately effective, allows the State Water Resources Commission to deny the request by an industry for new use of water for expansion of the construction of a new plant. Formerly, the commission could only restrict the use of water. The new act is designed to tighten state controls over possible future water pollution.

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

Another newly-signed law permits local units of government to join in providing ambulance services. It also allows counties, cities, villages or townships to combine in providing ambulance services financed through special assessments on residents in the various governmental units.

Also of interest, there is a new law which places jurisdiction for commercial fishing in Lake Erie under the Department of Natural Resources. Commercial fishing in Michigan waters of the Great Lakes is governed by state law. Still another new law increased the limit on the daily catch of whitefish from 7 to 12.

Some of the other newly-signed state laws:

— Authorize the Department of Social Services to start court action to force the payment of support for children under the Aid to Dependent (AID) programs.

— Lower the number of petition signatures required to force a vote on township zoning ordinances from 12 to 8 per cent of the registered voters in the unincorporated parts of a township.

— Prohibit prison inmates from possessing weapons or implements which may be used to assist in an escape or used to injure other persons. The old law prohibits only the use, not the possession, of such articles.

— Authorize the director of the Department of Licensing and Regulation to look into a complaint of violation by a licensee of the department if a licensing board does not investigate within 60 days after receiving a complaint.

— Establish new procedures for summary proceedings in district, municipal or common pleas courts for possession of real estate by clarifying steps which must be taken for eviction, enabling defendants to contest the proceedings.

— Permit an increase in the fees charged by registers of deeds for recording legal documents.

On home improvements

Here's the answer

Q.—I bought an unfinished bureau a couple of years ago but never got around to putting a finish on it. I'd like to do so now, but would like to clean the wood first, since it has a slightly dirty appearance. The wood is made of white pine.

A.—Wipe the surface thoroughly with a cloth saturated in turpentine. Change the cloth each time it becomes soiled.

Q.—We have our eyes on a house in a new development. It suits us well, but it has no gutters around the roof eaves. I always believed that the law called for gutters on a house to take care of the rain. The building company representative says this isn't so. He says it is perfectly legal, but he seems a little vague about details. Can you advise us?

A.—Some communities permit houses to be built without gutters and downspouts, providing that the roof overhang meets certain requirements regarding size. It is unlikely that any developer would attempt to violate the law in this respect because it would jeopardize his chances of getting the necessary certificates of occupancy. However, your local town hall will advise you whether gutters and downspouts are required.

Actually, the important thing is whether the land around the house is graded so that rain flows away from it when it hits the ground. If it does, you may get by without gutters. If it doesn't, even gutters may not be sufficient. In the latter case, the downspouts would have to be connected to drain tiles to carry roof water away from the house.

Q.—I painted our concrete basement floor two years ago with latex paint. It is still in perfect condition with no peeling or loosening paint anywhere. I now want to put down resilient tile, as we are going to make a recreation room. Can the tile be applied right over the paint or must the paint first be removed?

A.—If the paint is still solidly attached, as you say, you can place the tile right over it. But be sure you use a floor tile which can be used over concrete below grade. Talk it over with your dealer.

Q.—About a year ago, you advised someone how to tell whether a soiled area is mildew or just dirt. The test has escaped me. Can you refresh my memory? Also, if it is mildew, how can it be removed?

A.—When a mildewed area is saturated with ordinary household bleach, it will turn white in a few minutes. Many regular household cleaners are basically trisodium phosphate, which is effective against mildew. A standard solution for the removal of mildew is three ounces of trisodium phosphate, one quart of household bleach, one ounce of a powdered detergent and three quarts of lukewarm water.

Make your home safe from fire

Each day in the United States, 32 people die from fires and 1520 families lose their homes.

Fires also destroy 14 schools, eight churches, five hospitals and nursing homes, 120 stores, and 135 industrial plants, according to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Insurance Companies.

Fire prevention is everyone's job and constant responsibility. Be alert to potentially dangerous conditions. Carelessness in smoking and the improper use of matches are primary factors leading to home fires.

Fire kills about 11,700 people annually in the United States and nearly 30 per cent of these victims are children, reports the Institute for Safer Living. Keep matches away from children and teach them the dangers of fire.

The majority of home fires can be traced to these major causes: Rubbish; defective chimneys; combustible roofs; defective heating apparatus; matches and careless smoking; gasoline, kerosene; and electrical defects. Don't wait for spring housecleaning time to check your home for fire hazards — do it today.

The major parks include Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park near Ann Arbor, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville and Willow Metropolitan Park near New Boston.

The HCMA parks also will be presented on WKZO in Kalamazoo, WWTV in Cadillac and WWUP in Sault Sainte Marie on the "All Outdoors" program

When replacing broken panes

Have new glass cut smaller

If you intend to replace a broken window pane, you can skip the toughest part of the job by having the new glass cut to size—or almost to size.

Measure the length and width of the channel into which the glass sets and deduct 1-16th of an inch from each dimension. Having the glass cut exactly to size, so that it fits tightly into place, can cause cracking or breaking at a later time if the opening warps or shrinks.

Wear work gloves when removing the old glass from the window. Gently take out all the broken pieces that will come out fairly easy without tugging. The remainder will come loose when the old putty is removed. Use a heated soldering iron to soften any stubborn putty.

The tiny glazier's points you'll find imbedded in the wood must also be removed. This can be done with pliers or a flip-motion with the blade of a screwdriver. These points can be used again, although it may be preferable to get a small package of one of the new types that are a bit easier to install.

New putty or glazing compound can be prevented from drying out for a long period of time by coating the pane channel with linseed oil or paint before putting the new glass into place. Reinstall the glazier's points, then roll a piece of putty or compound between the palms of your hands until it is about the thickness of an ordinary pencil. Place the strip or strips in place on the outside where the pane fits into the channel. Use a putty knife to slant the material so that rain will roll off it. While the putty will help to keep the pane in place, that job is actually that of the glazier's points, so be sure they are holding securely before applying the putty.

Should you have a quantity of glass around and would like to try your hand at cutting it, you will find that it takes awhile to get the hang of it. Hold the glass cutter almost vertically as you draw it along the glass. Keep the wheel of the cutter lubricated with household oil. Sometimes you will appear to have made a clean cut, only to spoil the job when you try to break off the waste material. Wear gloves while doing this. Hold the pane on either side of the cut and flip your hands downward.

Place the glass on a flat surface with the line of the cut at the edge and break off the scrap with a downward movement of one hand.

If, the first time you try it, you make the cut cleanly and break off the excess without any trouble, you're some kind of genius.

(Squeaky floors and stairs, balky windows and doors, and concrete and brick repairs are among the 35 subjects discussed in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," which can be obtained by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Super handyman

Make due with what you've got on hand

By AL CARRELL

Dear Al: Not long ago, I had the problem of replacing a screw in a spot where my fingers couldn't reach. Not having a magnetic screwdriver, I resorted to magnetic brain waves and came up with this idea. I took a drinking straw and slit the end until it could be spread enough to hold the head of the screw. This allowed me to put the screw down to the hole and give it a few turns until it was started in the hole. A light tug on the straw released the screw, and a screwdriver finished the job. L.G.B.

Sometimes, the width of the saw kerf makes you end up with a wobbly chair if you allowed this difference to appear on several pieces.

Dear Al: Before you have time to track down an oil leak in your car, your garage floor can become a black bog. If you will slip a large piece of corrugated board under the car, it will protect the floor. The corrugated board absorbs the oil. If you're the kind who might forget to change drip catchers often enough, back the corrugated piece with foil so the oils don't soak all the way through.

I tried the recent idea from your column of putting a pan of beer out to rid my garden of snails. Apparently, slugs are also booze hounds because each morning there were many of these pests also in the brew. My grocer, who knows me as a teetotaler, didn't believe my story of buy a six pack of beer every week for snails, so will you send me a copy of the article as it appeared so I can have proof? T.O.

Mr. Grocer ... it's true!

A super hint - When you need to cut a number of duplicate pieces, use the same piece all the way through as your model. You'll end up with more uniformity in the pieces. If you change pieces, even the slightest error can be duplicated several times over.

To protect our folding lawn chairs from getting scratched and dusty during winter storage, I slip each chair into an old pillow case. Another pillow case is slipped over the other end, and the chair is completely covered. Masking tape holds the cases on. The chairs can then be stacked

Landscaping plan proposed

The Romulus Board of Education has received a request from the Merriman Elementary School PTA seeking permission to landscape the front of the school building using PTA funds to finance the project.

The school board ordered Thomas M. Janack, assistant superintendent of maintenance and operation, to review with the PTA the general landscaping plan for the area before they purchase and plant.

The school board also ordered that a letter of appreciation be sent to the officers of the PTA for proposed landscaping project.

Cukor, 72, directing like it was first film

MADRID — At 72, George Cukor has been filming a new movie on the beaches, plains and mountains of Spain, directing with the vim and enthusiasm of a hippie making his first feature.

The film is MGM's "Travels With My Aunt," and it is the latest in a long string of tastefully filmed, finely wrought pictures, including "Dinner at Eight," "Camille," "David Copperfield," "The Women," "Gaslight," several Hepburn-Tracy comedies, "Born Yesterday" and "My Fair Lady."

Now at an age when he could be retired among the art treasures of his Sunset Strip mansion, the slight, compact director is combatting the elements in a variety of locations depicting the world travels of the eccentric aunt of Graham Greene's nostalgic comedy.

One day he was on a windswept hill 50 miles north of Madrid, with the snowy mountains to the north doubling for the Himalayas.

"In the old days," he reflected, "we used to shoot all this scenery in California. It's all there, you know. It's said that now we have to come to Spain for the same thing. Why? The cost, I suppose."

"Travels With My Aunt" is the first complete film Cukor has directed since "My Fair Lady," which won awards in 1964 for him, Rex Harrison and the picture itself. With his long period of inaction, some Hollywood observers had figured Cukor had retired, not so.

"I never considered that I had stopped making pictures," the director said. "I simply had worked on a number of projects that never turned out."

Cukor has directed most of the great female stars, Garbo, Shearer, Crawford, Gardner, Harlow, Bankhead, Bergman, Colbert, Turner, Holliday, Garland, Loren, Monroe and both Hepburns.

Reflecting on his return to film making, Cukor said: "Movie sets don't change. I've felt the same sensations I've always had: excitement, anticipation, tedium, exasperation. Movie crews are the same everywhere. They make the same small jokes to relieve the boredom."

"I like that. I can't stand a hushed set. I don't mind 55 minutes of easy feeling every hour, as long as I can get those five quiet minutes in which we must create."

Largest U.S. Slovakian festival set in Detroit

The largest Slovakian event in U.S. history will take place on downtown Detroit's riverfront this weekend. Slovakian entertainers from the U.S. and Canada will be performing in costume during the three-day affair.

A Slovakian folk music ensemble from Cleveland called Johnny Pastirik will play Friday. Two groups from Ontario will perform all three days: The Toronto Zemplin Slovakian Folk Ensemble and the Slovakia women dancers from Hamilton.

The Barberton Slovak

Chorus from Barberton, Ohio, will present two performances Sunday. Their music, sung in the Slovakian language, tells of the toils and joys of Slovak life.

The Slovaks from Pittsburgh will perform Saturday. A local dance group, The Limbora Slovak Folk Ensemble, made up mostly of university students dedicated to preserving their culture and heritage, will be on stage all three days.

Eastman Johnson show opens today at museum

A major exhibition of one of the most popular American artists of a century ago opens today at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

"Eastman Johnson: Everyday Life in America 100 Years Ago" will be the museum's "perfect summer show" through Sunday, July 23.

Contemporary audiences may rediscover Eastman Johnson (1824-1906) in nearly 100 paintings and drawings. The exhibition was organized by Patricia Hills, associate curator of 18th and 19th century art at the Whitney Museum, New York City, where it closed less than a month ago.

Larry Curry, curator of American Art at the Detroit Institute of Arts, calls the show itself a reflection of the revival of interest in American art during recent years.

As he planned the installation in the museum's South Wing Main Floor galleries, Curry explained, "In spite of the artist's stature as one of the foremost painters of American life in the 19th century, only one exhibition of his work — at the Brooklyn Museum, 32 years ago — is as significant as the presentation we will be privileged to enjoy in Detroit."

Eastman Johnson brought to his genre scenes celebrating the dignity and pleasure of rural life a sophistication based on years of study in Germany, France and Holland, where he was inspired by the genre painting of Rembrandt and other 17th century Dutch masters. Returning from Europe, he painted aspects of everyday life which he had remembered with intense nostalgia during his European study.

Today his canvases — "Making Maple Sugar," "Corn Husking," "The Cranberry Harvest" — reveal Eastman Johnson as an artist sharing with viewers his passion for his native land.

Because of exceptional public interest, the Founders Society volunteer Docents will conduct public tours of the exhibition on Wednesdays, Fridays and Sundays from today through July 23. Tours begin at 12 noon; starting point is the exhibition entrance, South Wing main floor.

Patricia Hills, who wrote the catalog text and organized the Eastman Johnson exhibition, will give a lecture on Thursday, June 25. Sponsored by the Founders Society Associates of the American Wing, at 8:30 p.m. in the museum lecture hall, she will talk on "American Painting: Genre to Realism." The public is invited. Admission at the door is $1.50 and 60 cents for students.

The 126-page catalog is illustrated with 106 black and white illustrations, 12 color plates and details Johnson's history from neighborhood crayon limner to America's favorite painter.

Museum hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday; closed Mondays, holidays.

Students will study stage managing, assistant directing, set design and construction, lighting, sound, props, costumes and publicity. Classes will meet on Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and individual work on the productions will supplement the class sessions.

Unique children's art program planned

A unique program combining the performing and graphic arts is being offered for children ages 8 through 13 at Mercy College of Detroit.

The directors of this unusual Children's Art Program are Sister Gertrude McSorely, teacher of children's drama; James Foote, associate professor of speech and drama at Mercy College; and Phyllis A. Noda, lecturer in art education at Mercy.

The children's art program seeks to integrate the fundamentals of dramatic expression such as dynamic movement and vocal expression with the graphic arts which include drawing, painting, ceramics and sculpturing. Film-making will be an important facet of the program.

The Children's Art Program is designed to offer the participant the opportunity to explore the creative dimensions of his personhood.

Monday through Friday sessions will be held from 12:30 to 2:45 p.m. during the five-week period beginning Monday, June 26 and ending Friday, July 29. The class size is limited to 50 children and applications must be submitted before June 15. For more information call 531-7820, Ext. 555.

Willis resident selected

Dr. Howard Ray Hoops of 10010 Rawsonville Rd., Willis, associate director of the office of grants and contracts administration at Wayne State University, has been selected to participate in the International Educational Exchange Program conducted by the Department of State under the Fulbright-Hays Act.

Dr. Hoops was awarded a Fulbright-Hays grant to research the effects of the bilingual Philippine environment on the linguistic and academic development of Filipino school children.

The Fulbright-Hays Act was passed in 1961 to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries by means of educational and cultural exchange and to promote international cooperation for educational and cultural advancement.

The grants provide the opportunity for university lecturing, advanced research, graduate study, and teaching in elementary and secondary schools, along with special development programs for teachers.

Harvey drops out

James A. Harvey, 49, of 7173 Belleville Rd., Belleville, one of five candidates who have filed nominating petitions for the two seats on the Van Buren Board of Education, has issued a statement explaining his withdrawal from the school board race.

Harvey, a former teacher on the Van Buren Public School District's staff, will still be on the school election ballot as his withdrawal notice was filed after the May 19 deadline for withdrawing from the race.

In his statement issued, Harvey said:

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of those people who signed my petition, nominating me as a candidate for the Van Buren Board of Education. At the time of my nomination, I was a sincere candidate. However, due to recent unexpected personal circumstance, I find that I must withdraw from the election.

"The official withdrawal date has passed and my name will still appear on the ballot. Therefore I urge the public not to vote for me, but to cast their vote for the other candidates of their choice."

Belleville man cited

Anthony Hall of Belleville is to receive a civilian citation for "outstanding performance" from the Michigan State Police.

Hall was among 17 officers and five civilians cited by the State Police following a recent review of cases by the department's board of awards.

Hall and Gene Spencer of Ypsilanti, according to the citation, took up pursuit to identify a car after two men ran suspiciously to it from a store in Ypsilanti and drive away in March.

Their information enabled State Police officers to track the car to a residence, where two subjects were arrested for armed robbery of the store. Located in the house was a gun and ski masks used in the crime and all the money that was taken.

Area man promoted

Dale L. Seilaff of 48821 Denton Rd., Belleville, has been promoted to assistant trust officer by the Michigan Bank, it was announced by bank president George A. Pierson.

Seilaff was among 19 bank staff members who were promoted recently.

County seeks action at pit after drowning

Wayne County Undersheriff Loren E. Pittman said today police officials may recommend to Romulus officials action be taken to prevent future accidents at a city swimming hole known as the "gravel pit."

A 19-year-old Taylor youth drowned there Sunday afternoon when he attempted to swim across the more than 200-yard-wide pit at Wick Road and Chamberlain Street.

"I don't really know what the police can do to protect against injuries there," Pittman said. "I think it's more of a case for the city to decide what to do."

Robert Fogg, 6840 Gully Rd., drowned in approximately 60 feet of frigid water in the spring-fed pit at about 5 p.m., Pittman said.

More than 250 persons watched as Fogg, who apparently had not intended to go swimming, Pittman said, jumped in the water wearing his pants and attempted to swim across.

The youth swam out 200 feet, turned, and was headed back to dry land when he became disabled and went under.

Divers from the sheriff's marine division were brought to the scene, and Fogg's body was recovered at 7:52 p.m.

The pit, owned by the Cadillac Sand Co., has long been a favorite summer spot for youthful swimmers and picnickers. According to Pittman, yesterday's drowning was the first there in recent memory.

The company had erected a cyclone fence around the property, but parts of it have been knocked down or had holes cut in it to allow easy access.

"I don't know how you can prevent people from getting in there if they want to," Pittman said. "Even if a wall was put up, they'd climb over it or under it."

"Someone could always find a way to get in."

CYO to sponsor sexuality seminar for young adults

The Detroit Catholic Youth Organization and the Archdiocesan Family Life Bureau will sponsor a seminar on "Sexuality and Human Relationships" from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday at St. Beatrice parish in Southfield.

Attendance at the seminar will be limited to 40 young adults, ages 18-21. The importance of the seminar is that it is a pilot program. If it is successful, this kind of program will be repeated throughout the archdiocese.

The purpose of the seminar is to give young people the facts in three pertinent areas — anatomy and physiology, expectations of men and women in their relations with each other and economic, physical and sociological conditions that confront young married couples.

The idea for the seminar was developed by Ed Roberge, director of the Youth Leadership Division of the CYO and Fred Stone, director of the Family Life Bureau. They emphasized that attendance at the seminar is not limited to married or engaged couples.

Speakers for the Sunday seminar will be Dr. and Mrs. William Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John Paoenessa and one or two young married couples. Dr. Anderson is gynecologist and obstetrician. Paoenessa is a certified marriage and family counselor. Mrs. Paoenessa is a family life instructor.

A committee of young Catholic adults set up the program in cooperation with the CYO and the Family Life Bureau. They will meet later with the speakers to review the presentation, to see how it may be improved and to decide whether further presentations of such programs would be fruitful. Roberge and Stone selected the committee, and assisted in the development of the program.

EAST LANSING — Shareholders of Panax Corporation, Michigan-based newspaper publishing group, and owner of The Daily Eagle, has approved a one for five combination of shares of Panax common stock, coupled with an increase in par value from $1 to $5 per share, at the company's annual meeting.

Foster parents group will meet

The Foster Parents for Progress, west suburban chapter, will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the YMCA, located at 8275 South Wayne Rd., Westland.

Mrs. Phyllis Gretzner, chairman, will report on a National Convention of Foster Parents held May 5-7 in Denver, Colo. Mr. and Mrs. Gretzner were among 18 couples from Michigan who attended the convention.

According to Mrs. Gretzner, there are more than 200 homes in the Western Wayne County drive, bake sale and dance. Saturday's excursion marks the third year Mrs. Jones has taken art club members to Cedar Point.

"We always think we will go to Chicago or Washington to see galleries, but by the time the year is over, we are all tired and just want to have some fun," she said.

Among those who will make the trip are Sherman Donald, Mike Tennille, Lorraine Iseler, Guy Williams, Donna Martyn, Sofi Williams, Donald Wojciechowski, Terry Burnette, Mary Ann Brainerd, Henry Knofski, Beth Myers, Tony Masalese, Pat Dorman and Becky Harmon.

Drivers will be Mrs. Mary Rice and Mrs. Dolores Bolden.

The Gretzner family has through the years included more than 100 foster children. One of the major problems has always been obtaining medical consent forms from natural parents for treatment of trauma or acute illness. One of the goals of the organization is to expedite medical treatment for foster children.

GRADE 4

"I enjoy living in Michigan because..." it's a beautiful state. There are four seasons. When in some states they don't have four seasons.

There is lots of fun in the summer. You can play on the green grass and watch the birds fly and the sun set.

I enjoy living in Michigan because there are many places to go and things to see. We can go swimming in lakes and rivers. We can go swimming, boating, skating on the large lakes. We can go sledding and skiing on the hills.

We can go up north to Sault Ste. Marie and watch the boats come in. We could go to the upper Peninsula to Tahquamenon falls. We could go up north to the Sleeping Bear dunes.

We can lay on the grass and watch the leaves turn colors and look at the clean sky.

In the winter the white snow falls. In the spring the flowers bloom and the bees buzz from flower to flower.

Yes, Michigan is truly a good state to live in.

"I enjoy living in Michigan because..." it is a beautiful state. It seems to have all the natural resources it was born with.

It has the clean air we breathe; the clear blue water that we drink or enjoy by just watching it flow by in the streams,

Metro Water Dept. proposes rate increase

Despite a regional system which has kept Detroit area water rates considerably lower than most cities in the nation, continued inflation is pushing up the cost of supplying water.

That's the story behind a proposed general water rate increase — the first in five years — as explained by Detroit Metro Water Department (DMWD) officials to some 150 representatives from southeast Michigan communities last week.

The proposed increase is 3 cents a 1,000 gallons of water. Based on average water usage by a family of four of 7,500 gallons a month, it would cost most homeowners less than a penny more a day.

If the increase is approved by DMWD's Board of Commissioners, it would be effective with all bills issued on or after Nov. 1.

"This proposed increase is to be uniformly applied to all DMWD customers in southeast Michigan, retail and wholesale," said General Manager Gerald J. Remus.

"An across-the-board rate change will provide for an equal sharing of the increased cost of water supply by all customers."

No change in service charges is included. Remus also pointed out that, lakes or rivers of our beautiful land; the golden hills, shining valleys, and the shimmering wheat fields displaying the shining sun.

Whatever your sport is you will find its grounds in Michigan. If it is skiing, you will find giant hills for skiing in the north. If it is water sports, there are four beautiful lakes surrounding Michigan's lovely land. Most of its lands are suitable for sports.

Most of its history or the history of people can be found in some of the interesting and old cities of Michigan. There are art museums, zoos, and one of the most interesting places is Greenfield Village with its houses, factories, and farms outside.

Inside there is a museum that holds trains, bicycles, planes, machines, and household wonders of all the early ages.

But most of all I love Michigan because that is where I live and it is where I have grown up. I love Michigan.

Eve Boyd
West Willow School

"I enjoy living in Michigan because..." of its many beautiful lakes and forests where you can enjoy yourself. Michigan has many picnic grounds and camping grounds where you can take to the wilderness for a day or two or even a week or more.

Three out of the five Great Lakes are bordering Michigan, which gives its people much enjoyment.

Michigan is divided into two parts — the Upper Peninsula and the Lower Peninsula. These two peninsulas are connected by a suspension bridge called the Mackinac Bridge. This bridge gives you a nice view of two of the Great Lakes while you are crossing.

Michigan is a state of sports. For such sports as skiing, snowmobiling, and sledding. Michigan has many small mountains and hills.

Michigan has little league sports for young boys such as baseball and football. There are major league teams for the men such as football, baseball, etc. Some of these teams are the Detroit Tigers, Detroit Lions and the Detroit Red Wings.

Now even the girls are able to participate in some of these sports. This is good for us girls.

Michigan is also a state of education. We have some of the finest schools in the country.

There also are many places to visit such as zoos, museums, institutes and theaters. There are also many historical places to visit such as Greenfield Village and other restored homes and buildings in Michigan.

without the currently shared area would be much higher benefits of a regional water than present and proposed system, rates in the Detroit amounts.

Michigan has many festivals. One of these is the 'Tump Festival held in Holland, Michigan once a year. Michigan is just an all around beautiful state.

Kim Buchanan
Rawsonville School

GRADE 6

"I enjoy living in Michigan because..." it has lots of parks and resort areas.

I like Michigan's climate because in the summer it is not too hot and in the winter it gets cold. In the summer it is nice enough for swimming, fishing, boating and archery. In the winter, I like to go snowmobiling (if you are not careful with a snowmobile you can hurt someone) sledding and building snowmen.

I like its schools because we have good school supplies and helpful teachers.

I like Michigan's cities, all except the pollution in the air. Detroit is my favorite city because it has big hotels and has good restaurants, and it has Cobo Hall.

My favorite sports are wrestling and baseball. Michigan has good athletes on their teams.

I'm proud to live in the same state that Henry Ford made his first gas powered car in 1892.

Michigan has been a state of the United States for 135 years.

Van Buren bar fined

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has assessed a fine of $50 against the operators of Rogalle's Lounge, located at 11175 Haggerty Rd., near the I-94 Expressway, Belleville, who were accused of violating state liquor laws.

Commission investigators charged the operators with "possessing adulterated or misbranded spirits." The complaint was dated July 20, 1971.

The fine was assessed against Felix F. Rogalle and Alton P. Shirley, co-executors of the Felix Rogalle Estate; and Barbara Joanne Rogalle following a hearing on the charge held May 10 before a commission hearing examiner sitting at the Lincoln Park offices of the commission.

'Fact' sheets termed disservice, full of lies

To the editor:

Will the real "concerned citizens" please stand up -- or, "where is that bad odor coming from?"

Why the questions you ask? Well, on the night of May 15, which was the day before our special primary election, a strange thing happened in Van Buren Township -- it snowed baloney.

To be specific, several groups of youngsters distributed a "fact" sheet which was signed "concerned citizens". Now being a simple farm boy at heart, I get concerned when somebody is "concerned" about giving me "facts," but doesn't have enough faith in his own convictions to sign his name to these "facts."

So, as fate would have it, a for - real concerned citizen stopped one of these distributing groups and asked who had provided them with these "fact" sheets to deliver.

Well, one of the youngsters said that they worked for Mr. Toth. Mr. who? Yes, that's what he said.

Well, sports fans, I think you can arrive at your own conclusions at this point.

As to the "fact" sheet itself, it presented seven "facts". In addition, the sheet contained an opening statement on proposition No. 2 and a conclusion at the end of the sheet. So, in typical "night rider" fashion, of the nine "statements," seven are lies, one is just a question and doesn't present any facts, and one fact is true.

So how's that? Seven of nine statements are lies. Specifically, statement 1 about the advisory vote is a lie. "Facts" 1 thru 4 are lies. "Fact" 5 is true in that Detroit Edison was sued but you can sue anybody today. The filing fee is only $5.

You will notice however, that fact 5 doesn't say that Detroit Edison was ever found guilty or even paid any money. In reality then fact 5 is a half truth in that it infers something that hasn't happened.

Fact 6 is a lie because at the township board meeting of Jan. 25, 1972 Trustee Blend made a motion to direct the township supervisor to send a letter to Detroit Edison requesting that the company consider the transfer of Belleville Lake. This motion was seconded by Payne and supported by Cullin, Birk, and Hogan. Trustee Maton abstained from voting as he is an employee of Detroit Edison. I would say that this is about as unanimous as you can get.

"Fact" 7 is just a series of questions. The conclusion is written to allow the reader to conclude that this "authority" they mention could on its own, raise our taxes. "Concerned Citizens" either is completely ignorant of township law or is again trying to hoodwink the township voters.

In either event, this kind of garbage is an extreme disservice to our township. Why, because there is no way that the township board or any authority it might create can raise your township taxes above the present legal level without a millage increase, which must be voted upon by the people.

I am sure by now you are wondering why some people will go to these lengths to deny to the township residents a wonderful recreation facility. To do this, let's look into Carlson's crystal ball, which has yet to be proven wrong.

First of all, let's see who would gain by the township not accepting the lake. A careful review of the data shows that there are two groups which stand to benefit. These groups are:

1. The Wayne County Road Commission. Why? Well, its prime objective thru the airport authority is to turn Van Buren Township into one big airport. These people realize that -- based on recent court decisions in California, Florida and New York -- the one obstacle -- the commission absolutely can not overcome is a lawsuit filed on behalf of our township "if" it should own a recreational facility directly in the flight path of this new monster airport. Consequently, it is imperative to the commission that Van Buren Township not accept the lake and park.

2. Local developers. As one of the project signers on behalf of Ford Motor Co. when Ford Lake was given to Ypsilanti and Ypsilanti Township, I can easily recognize that Detroit Edison now faces the same economic reality that was faced by Ford. In other words, you can't run a profitable business by keeping assets that don't produce a profit. That is the case here, unless of course, Detroit Edison wanted to get into the land and park development business, which it apparently doesn't. Therefore, it is obvious to developers that if the township can be prevented from obtaining this valuable property, they in turn stand a good chance of obtaining this same valuable property, with sewers available, for next to nothing. In land development, this is the name of the game.

At this point I would like to present Carlson's "facts":

1. Accepting the lake and park cannot give anyone the authority to raise our taxes.

2. If our township doesn't accept the lake and park, somebody else will and we then will have no control over what is done with the lake and park. A private offer to acquire this property has been made to Detroit Edison.

3. Township residents will be denied a wonderful park and beach.

4. Wayne County will have achieved a major step toward making the monster airport a reality.

In closing, I would like to make two statements. I defy anyone to present one single documented argument which proves that Van Buren residents will not benefit by accepting the lake and park. I live on the lake and would never use the park, but I just happen to have enough interest in my fellow citizens well being that I would like to see everyone enjoy the lake as I do.

Also, anyone interested in seeing Van Buren Township change positions and accept the lake, just give me a call.

'People for Huron' supports Kyko, Betz

To the editor:

"People For Huron" a citizens group pledged to quality education, plans to keep it that way in the June 12 election.

That's why members have pledged their all-out support to the re-election of Leo Kyko and Lee Betz.

The turmoil and confusion which existed prior to last year's recall election no longer exists, but there is always the danger that those conditions will return.

The single most important aspect of the board's activity during the past year has been the harmony among parents, faculty, administration and school board.

Kyko and Betz, displaying the ability to listen and to be responsive to the needs of the community, have helped to keep the lines of communication open between the board and the citizens of the district.

Both men have been able to call upon many years of experience in community service to aid them in making the often tough decisions for the general good of the community.

Kyko and Betz are tough-minded businessmen, trained in efficiency and economy. They have in the past displayed the ability to bring quality education to the Huron Schools, while at the same time conserving the tax dollar.

People For Huron emphasize that the experience of these two incumbents will be needed to maintain the high quality of education during the coming years.

In asking for voter approval of the re-election of Kyko and Betz, People For Huron urges all voters to let their voices be heard at the June 12 school election.

Respect not shown for flag, wreaths

To the editor:

I am writing in regards to the Belleville Memorial Day Parade held on May 21. My letter also pertains in part to other cities in which I have marched.

First, to all who did march, I congratulate them on a fine job. Now I am registering my concern over the lack of respect shown our beautiful flag. So few men even remove their hats in the presence of their flag. Not more than 10 persons along the whole route saluted their flag, hand over heart or otherwise.

Why? It's the same old flag. It's our flag and don't you forget it for a moment. As Old Glory flies proudly down the street, she's saluting you and me and all she stands for. Doesn't she deserve the same respect from you, her people?

Finally in regards to the wreaths of flowers which were thrown upon the waters of Belleville Lake to honor our veterans of all wars who were lost or buried at sea. After the VFW, the VFW Auxiliary and the Woman's Relief Corps placed wreaths upon the water, boys in boats came from beneath the Denton Road Bridge and took them. They were not meant for the living, but they never were allowed to pay the homage they were meant to do.

Our people of today must take a good look at themselves. Love of God and country begins at home. Need I say more.

Acquaintance lauds Romulus employe

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following is the copy of a letter written to the family of Charles W. Claxton, 22, of 29197 Smith Rd., Romulus after Claxton and two other Romulus DPW workers died in a manhole mishap May 18.

Dear bereaved family, words could never say Nor erase the misfortune that took a life away. I want you to know you are not all alone Your son was blessed and left nothing to be atoned.

I didn't know him well, but I admired what I knew. He was beautiful and sweet, with thanks from you. He was young in age, but I believe one fact. His world was happy and his life was intact.

This man was definitely for real and not false. He would gladly help another, regardless of the cost. Chuck came to the aid of a friend, without thought, Never knowing upon his life, death be brought

His life was taken just as it was gave I recently lost a loved one. Please try to be brave. I know that remorse and pain comes with knowing We're here today and tomorrow we're going.

Chuck was a true man endowed with great love. His memory shall forever live, just as the heavens above.

Board candidates refute accusations

To the editor:

This letter is written in regard to a recent meeting of the Romulus Democratic Club executive board. At this meeting, Jerry Canejo made the remark he was "praying he did not get elected to the school board."

I ask then, "Why does he run?"

He and the man with whom he is running did not even circulate their own petitions. Their petitions were circulated by the chairman of the board of education.

I say that if these men really wanted the job, they could their own work. However, they are being pushed by the chairman of the board of education to preserve his power over the board.

Mr. Draper over the past year has been saying he would not run for re-election to the Romulus Board of Education. I say we should respect their wishes and dump both incumbents from the board of education.

Let's change the board of education so it will be more responsive to the needs and wants of the average Romulus citizen.

Mrs. Louise Kossel
Romulus

EDITOR'S NOTE — When contacted about the above letter, Gervazio (Jerry) Canejo, incumbent Romulus School Board member, made the following reply:

"I can't remember saying anything like this at the meeting. It would be foolish for me to do so. I am certainly running for re-election. I circulated my own petition and I had others to circulate them in my behalf."

Davis B. Draper, incumbent Romulus school board member, who also is seeking re-election, said:

"I told a number of people I was considering not running again. A week prior to the deadline for filing nominations, I was prevailed upon by some members of the board of education and many Romulus residents to seek re-election. After some reconsideration, I am complying with their wishes. As to circulating petitions, friends and associates of a candidate usually perform this task. And in my case this was done. I see no harm in this."

Area grid coaches favor 'tie-breaker'

By JIM FREER
Eagle Sports Writer
The high school football coach who used to exhort his team to "do your best — win, lose, or tie" will have to alter his pre-game speeches this fall.

In most Michigan scholastic football games this season it will be either win or lose. A ruling last month by the Michigan State High School Athletic Association provides for a playoff period for games which end in a tie.

The new rule is optional. Each conference will decide whether or not to use the tie-breaker rule, but a survey of local head grid coaches revealed that most of the area leagues will adopt it. So it seems that the "draw" will soon become obsolete on the high school gridiron.

Most of the area coaches favor the tie-breaker rule. All of the mentors felt that the innovation will add more excitement and the majority of the coaches voiced the opinion that the overtime rule will prove to be beneficial to the sport.

The coaches who favored the tie-breaker rule felt that the system which will be used is a fair one.

When a game ends in a tie the teams will be alternately given a first-and-goal situation on the opposition's 10 yard line. Each team will have four downs in which to score, with all the regular touch-down, field goal, and extra point options open. If the clubs are still tied after one exchange of downs the pattern will be continued until the deadlock is broken. The coaches think that the proposed system is better than the "sudden death" method used in NFL playoff games. "This seems like a fair way to settle a tie game," said Wayne Memorial Coach Wayne Gorman. "Each team will have an opportunity to score, and with the ball on the ten and four downs to get it in it's likely that the game will be settled in one or two extra periods."

Romulus fires head grid coach Pratt

Romulus High School has plans for the 1972 football season and they apparently don't include veteran head coach George Pratt.

Pratt's contract was not renewed and the 35-year-old mentor will be replaced by one of his assistants, Bill Harding.

"I was surprised when I discovered that I was being replaced," said Pratt, whose team finished with a 4-5 won-lost record last year. "I was informed by the athletic director that my contract was not going to be renewed. "I guess I wasn't making progress as rapidly as the athletic director wanted," said Baum. "The reason why I am perturbed at all of this is because if they wanted to fire me they could have done it right after the season last year."

It also was a "fine birthday present". Pratt was 35 yesterday. Pratt took over the reins in 1966 from Dave Woodcock after Woodcock's Eagles won only one of nine games. Pratt was moved up from assistant coach to head coach the next year.

It has been an uphill struggle for Pratt, who has duplicated the 4-5 won-lost record the past two seasons and they stand as his best record during the five year tenure.

Pratt, who moved to Romulus with his family from Carsonville, Mich., where he coached football, basketball, and track, graduated from Western Michigan University. He presently teaches industrial education at the high school.

Harding has been assistant coach for the past two years.

THE SPRING OF '72 — What started as a rebuilding year for Coach Vitold Kaminskis (at left) turned out to be an exciting one right to the finish as the Tigers stayed in the Suburban 8 Conference title race until Friday's game. That game ended in defeat, 5-3, at Redford Union, giving the host the crown out-right. Belleville has a 8-5 record and has a makeup game with Plymouth, however the two schools may not have a chance to play it because the Rocks are still in the state Class A championship title race, having won the district's over the weekend.

Rains stop Romulus slow-pitch showdown

Cappy bike race slated

The annual Fred Cappy Bicycle Trophy Race will be held at 9 a.m. on Sunday, June 11 at the Chandler Park Oval in Detroit.

The race, which is promoted by Fred Cappy and the Eastside Wheelmen and sponsored by Dick Green Chrysler-Plymouth, is sanctioned by the Amateur Bicycle League of America.

A 50-mile national senior race, a 25-mile sectional junior race, and a 25-mile women's race will highlight the program. There will also be races for intermediates, midgets, veterans, and tourists.

GARRADE PETTUS

Pettus is back

Former Belleville High track and field great, Garrade Pettus, helped Eastern Michigan University's cause at the National Collegiate Athletic Association's college division championship as he placed second in the high jump.

Pettus, one of the top athletes in Belleville High's history, leaped 6 feet, 7 3/4 inches to tie for second in the high jump as EMU's Hurons raced away with the NCAA-College Division Championships held at Ashland College.

Hampered by a leg injury most of the season, Pettus looked fully recovered in this meet.

Rains washed out the seven games scheduled last Tuesday, but the Romulus Adult Slo-Pitch Leagues were back in action on Thursday, eager for competition.

That anticipated showdown clash between undefeated Eastern Division leaders, Coughlin Air, and the Romulus Progressive Club, however, will have to wait. All rained out games have been rescheduled for Tuesday, July 25.

Meanwhile, Kerr Manufacturing Company, losers in its first four ball games, had upset written over their caps as they forced one of the unbeaten Eastern leaders, Romulus Progressive into extra innings before surrendering in the ninth.

It was the Progressive Club's fifth successive victory while the losers were saddled with their fifth straight loss, 5-4.

Fred Eberline came off the bench to deliver a pinch single to bring Harmon Schonfeld home with the winning run in the top of the ninth.

Schonfeld singled with one down in the ninth and Hugh Miller advanced him to third with a two out single to set the stage for Eberline's hit.

Progressive scored first in the second on back-to-back doubles from Ken Mientkiewicz and Schonfeld and Miller's sacrifice fly. Kerr scored four times in the third on singles from Walt Nelson and Spehaic and doubles from Dewmlille and Mihlak.

Progressive tied the game in the fourth when John Sterling was safe on an error Mientkiewicz singled and moved to second on the throw to third. Sterling scored as Schonfeld bounced out, and Bob Zygal single scored Mientkiewicz.

Coughlin although out by Press Repair 14 to 9 managed to outscore their opponents 6 to 4 to record their fifth win behind Ralph Rakotz. Rich Rakotz, Don Skiff and Bob Brothers led Coughlin with two hits in three trips each.

Jerry Kittle pitched a two hit shutout for Carpentry By Woodcraft in a 14 to 0 win over Cue Corners. Dan Peterlin homered for Carpentry.

Spearman's Fine Foods squeezed by Romulus Hardware 14 to 12. Twitchell and Gillum were 3-for-4 and Rich Spearman had two home runs in three trips for Spearman's.

Bill Hass connected for a home run for Hardware with the bases jammed. Jody Gomez went 3-for-4 with two home runs and seven RBI's to lead Morgan Manor over Hals Market 13 to 3. Joe Kusibab also went 3-for-4. Morgan collected 15 hits while winning pitcher Ray Muck allowed Hal's 11 hits.

Denny Coughlin singled in the winning run in the top of the seventh and Walter's Bar added two insurance runs to record a 11 to 8 win over Baum's Funeral Home. Coughlin and Frank Stopera each had three hits in four at bats. Larry Mach drove in three runs in a 3 for 3 performance.

Reel Realty won its 2nd of the season 11 to 5 over Romulus Welding. Ray Wegles was 3 for 3 with a home run and Roger Vuncck was 3 for 4. Reel collected 13 hits. Winning pitcher Fred Bonker allowed 10 hits.

Tigers wind up third in league

The Belleville High baseball team saw its chances for the Suburban Eight championship go down the drain when it dropped a 5-3 decision to Redford Union in a season-closing game last Friday.

The triumph gave Redford Union the championship with a 10-4 record while Belleville wound up third with an 8-5 mark.

Dearborn Edsel Ford was second at 9-5 and Belleville would have been able to gain a tie by scoring a victory in a make-up game with Allen Park. But the game, which was scheduled to be played Monday, was cancelled because the Tiger Seniors had graduation practice.

The game will not be played, so Coach Vitold Kaminskis' team will close out its season with a 12-8 overall record. Belleville saw a late rally fall short in its 1972 finale.

Home standing Redford Union had scored its five runs in the third inning on Stan Friedman's two-run single and Glenn Richman's three-run homer.

Belleville pitcher Vern Gowen kept Redford Union scoreless the rest of the way and the Tigers almost pulled it out in the top of the seventh. Belleville loaded the bases in the final frame when Larry Farr and Tim Vance singled and Mike Dansard reached base on a catcher's interference call.

Gowen and Mike Kottke then plated runs with sacrifice flies and Kevin Bara drove in the third run with an infield single, his third hit of the day.

But the rally ended there and the Tigers had to settle for a third place Suburban Eight finish.

Tony Nippa hurled a six-hitter for Redford Union while Gowen, who struck out three and walked two, allowed nine hits as he went the route.

In reflecting on the season Kaminskis said that "we did a fine overall job but we let down a little bit at the end. But that was primarily because we had so many games during the final weeks."

Gowen led the Tigers in batting with a .350 average and was followed by Dansard at .346 and Kottka at .317.

It was an ugly argument to say the least.

All who wished to tune in could hear the parent dissect the coach. And I had to admire the coach for his patience for, though he was forced to raise his voice to get through to the parent, he never used the cutting remarks or derogatory language the parent did.

The parent insisted that he knew more about running a track team than the coach. In fact the parent was emphatic — his son would run in this event and not the one the coach had designated.

I've coached more teams than you would ever dream of coaching," said the parent to the coach. "And I've forgotten more about coaching than you ever learned. I say my son will run in this event or he won't run at all."

We waited for the coach to retaliate. He did with "That may be so, you may know more than I do, but right now we're responsible for the team and your son and he'll run in the event that we have designated him to run in, or we'll scratch him."

"We'll see about that," retorted the parent who rushed out of the press box and down into the field.

"Do you have many guys like that?" I asked the coach.

"No, but one is enough," he replied.

I guess the coach is right.

Why do parents intervene in a coach's work?

I really don't know, but I would like to hear from anyone who thinks he or she does.

Tom Wilmot, player-public relations man for Daly Drive In's slo-pitch softball team came up with this tragic story.

It happened at the Motor City Invitational Tournament Sunday. It seems that Daly's was scheduled to play Academy Real Estate in the second round of the tourney, however, Academy decided to forfeit.

Just a few hours before the game, Academy catcher Jim Becker collapsed and died. His teammates voted to drop out of the tournament.

"Heck, Jim was only 30 years old and we were together a couple of days ago," related Wilmot. "His death shook us all."

The Mid-Wayne Conference baseball coaches made their all-league selections known the other day and did they go for pitchers! Of the 12 top choices, the coaches drafted seven pitchers.

Take a look: Dennis Ray (Garden City East), Brent Conley (Dearborn Heights Robichaud), Art Mach (Wayne Memorial), Jay Traver (Taylor Center), Bill Leach (Dearborn Heights Annapolis), John Poloni (Lutheran West) and Leon Druckenmiller (Lutheran West).

With pitchers like that, who needs an infield or an outfield? Right, coach?

STORRS, Conn. — The University of Connecticut will represent New England in the College World Series starting June 9 in Omaha, Neb.

(Continued from Page B-1) many coaches who stressed that the new rule will place or added premium on place kicking.

Garden City West mentor Bob Draheim agreed, saying that "every team will now make more of an effort to find a good place kicker. Last year we ran for all our extra points but now we'll have to get a kicker because a field goal or extra point kick could be crucial in an over time game.

The tie-breaker rule will also force teams to devote more practice time to their goal-line offenses and defenses.

"We already spend about 30 per cent of our practice time on our offense and defense inside the ten," said John Glenn Coach Bob Lusk. "With this new rule we'll have to spend even more because poor execution in these situations could lead to a loss in an overtime game."

There may also be some changes in the strategy employed near the end of close games.

"I think that you'll see teams trying different things and perhaps taking more chances in the fourth quarter of a close game," said Bill Hardy, who will take over as head coach at Romulus this fall. "It will all depend on the situation of course. But I think it will be like the excitement in basketball when you have a close game and a possible overtime."

Livonia Churchill Coach Ken Kaestner also mentioned the possibility of excitement similar to the drama found in an overtime, or anticipated overtime, in basketball.

The Charger mentor foresaw "more crowd appeal" and jokingly added that there will be "more headaches for the coaches."

Robichaud's Bob Yauch predicted that "there may be more surprise plays, both during the regulation game and in overtime. The team which has the ball first in overtime may be willing to take a gamble in order to take the advantage."

There was also general feeling that the team which has the ball first in the overtime may often be at a disadvantage.

"The team going second will know what their opponent has done," said Yauch. "They'll know just what they have to do. But the team going first might feel that it has to gamble for a touchdown and two-point conversion."

Huron Coach Lee Smeltzer pointed out that "a team which is behind by one point late in the game will not have to think about gambling for a two-point conversion anymore. If they have a good kicker they can go for one point and a tie, and then try to win in overtime, where you get four plays rather than just one try for a two-point conversion."

The opposition to the rule centered around the premise that an overtime will lengthen a game, thus making players tired and more susceptible to injury.

"Fatigue plays a big role at the end of any game," said Inkster Coach Arnie James. "An overtime will bring it out even more and it just might not be worth it."

Belleville Coach Keith Emerson also felt that the tie-breaker rule had some negative factors.

"I think we have enough allowances already to avoid ties," he commented. "With the two-point conversion we don't have that many ties anyway. I think it will be an exciting rule, but we won't need it very often."

Several coaches also pointed out that an underdog will no longer be able to claim a "moral victory" by gaining a tie with a favored foe.

Most of the coaches stated that they had not had many tie games in recent years and they echoed the sentiments of Livonia Franklin's George Lovich who said that "most coaches usually play for the win anyway, because none of the fans really like a tie."

Garden City East's Gary Humphrey and Cherry Hill's Joe LaScola, two coaches who favor the new rule, both predicted that the majority of the state's conferences will vote to accept it.

For the most part, the tie-breaker rule has received a warm welcome from the men who make the decisions during high school football games.

With the new rule no coach will again have to face the familiar charge that he "settled for a tie."

Coaches favor new rule

(Continued from Page B-1) many coaches who stressed that the new rule will place or added premium on place kicking.

Garden City West mentor Bob Draheim agreed, saying that "every team will now make more of an effort to find a good place kicker. Last year we ran for all our extra points but now we'll have to get a kicker because a field goal or extra point kick could be crucial in an over time game.

The tie-breaker rule will also force teams to devote more practice time to their goal-line offenses and defenses.

"We already spend about 30 per cent of our practice time on our offense and defense inside the ten," said John Glenn Coach Bob Lusk. "With this new rule we'll have to spend even more because poor execution in these situations could lead to a loss in an overtime game."

There may also be some changes in the strategy employed near the end of close games.

"I think that you'll see teams trying different things and perhaps taking more chances in the fourth quarter of a close game," said Bill Hardy, who will take over as head coach at Romulus this fall. "It will all depend on the situation of course. But I think it will be like the excitement in basketball when you have a close game and a possible overtime."

Livonia Churchill Coach Ken Kaestner also mentioned the possibility of excitement similar to the drama found in an overtime, or anticipated overtime, in basketball.

The Charger mentor foresaw "more crowd appeal" and jokingly added that there will be "more headaches for the coaches."

Robichaud's Bob Yauch predicted that "there may be more surprise plays, both during the regulation game and in overtime. The team which has the ball first in overtime may be willing to take a gamble in order to take the advantage."

There was also general feeling that the team which has the ball first in the overtime may often be at a disadvantage.

"The team going second will know what their opponent has done," said Yauch. "They'll know just what they have to do. But the team going first might feel that it has to gamble for a touchdown and two-point conversion."

Huron Coach Lee Smeltzer pointed out that "a team which is behind by one point late in the game will not have to think about gambling for a two-point conversion anymore. If they have a good kicker they can go for one point and a tie, and then try to win in overtime, where you get four plays rather than just one try for a two-point conversion."

The opposition to the rule centered around the premise that an overtime will lengthen a game, thus making players tired and more susceptible to injury.

"Fatigue plays a big role at the end of any game," said Inkster Coach Arnie James. "An overtime will bring it out even more and it just might not be worth it."

Belleville Coach Keith Emerson also felt that the tie-breaker rule had some negative factors.

"I think we have enough allowances already to avoid ties," he commented. "With the two-point conversion we don't have that many ties anyway. I think it will be an exciting rule, but we won't need it very often."

Several coaches also pointed out that an underdog will no longer be able to claim a "moral victory" by gaining a tie with a favored foe.

Most of the coaches stated that they had not had many tie games in recent years and they echoed the sentiments of Livonia Franklin's George Lovich who said that "most coaches usually play for the win anyway, because none of the fans really like a tie."

Garden City East's Gary Humphrey and Cherry Hill's Joe LaScola, two coaches who favor the new rule, both predicted that the majority of the state's conferences will vote to accept it.

For the most part, the tie-breaker rule has received a warm welcome from the men who make the decisions during high school football games.

With the new rule no coach will again have to face the familiar charge that he "settled for a tie."

Three Romulus juniors chosen for Boys State

Three Romulus High School juniors, James Bassham, Keith Cardwell and Thomas Varcak, will represent Romulus at Wolverine Boys' State from June 14-21.

Boys' State is held each year on the campus of Michigan State University at East Lansing. This year 1,250 to 1,300 boys from all parts of the state, will assemble at MSU, with the intent of setting up a model state government. The boys will be housed in dorms and take their meals in these same dorms.

Some 13 junior boys at Romulus Senior High School who have 3.0 or above average were nominated for this year's Boys' State program. Allie Jackson, junior class counselor and coordinator of the Boys' State Program, then instructed the 13 nominees on what they had to do in order to represent Romulus at Boys' State. The boys were required to:

1. Prepare and deliver to a screening committee a speech entitled, Why I choose—for President.
2. Answer questions posed to them by members of the screening committee.
3. Submit a resume' of their junior and senior high school activities to the committee.

At Boys' State, the three Romulus juniors can look forward to a real experience in self-government. Each boy will be placed in a city with approximately 50 boys residing in each city. Every two cities will form a county. Each boy also is placed in one of two political parties. Elections are eventually held for city, county and state offices. Various social activities are provided for the boys during their eight-day stay.

The cost for each boy is $65 and his fee is completely paid for by one of three service clubs in Romulus. Romulus Progressive Club will sponsor James Bassham, the Kiwanis Club will sponsor Thomas Varcak, and the Rotary Club will support Keith Cardwell. Next fall each boy will return to his sponsoring organization and describe his Boys' State experiences.

Which family has the Gas incinerator?

It's the family whose trash is a mere fraction of what it was. Because their Gas incinerator makes short work of everything that burns. Without smoke, odor, noise or air pollution. And that's good news for the neighbors and the whole community.

A Gas incinerator disposes of everything combustible, including all kinds of things you can't put into a garbage disposal. All paper products. Garbage, including bones. In fact, almost everything but bottles and cans is reduced to a fine ash—and trash day is reduced to a minor event.

So, enjoy the convenience of a smokeless, odorless Gas incinerator. Plus the neater basement, the tidier garage and the uncluttered curb that go with it.

See the Gas incinerators at your Gas appliance dealer or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showroom.

Party burgers

Everyone enjoys beef-burgers, so why not dress them up with toppings for informal party refreshments! Beef patties are sure to please guests when topped with foods that compliment that great broiled beef flavor.

Form patties and prepare toppings early to wait ready in the refrigerator before the party for broiling, advises Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Buffet Party Beefburgers

2 pounds ground beef
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tomato slices
9 avocado wedges, dipped in lemon juice
3 green pepper rings
Cheese spread

Combine ground beef with salt and pepper. Shape into 6 patties ¾ inch thick. Place patties on rack in broiling pan and insert pan so top of meat is about 3 to 4 inches from heat. Broil 7 to 8 minutes on one side. Turn with spatula. Broil 6 to 12 minutes longer, to desired degree of doneness. Top each of three burgers with a tomato slice and three avocado wedges. Top each of remaining burgers with a green pepper ring stuffed with cheese spread. 6 servings.

How to address 'thank you' notes

By AMY VANDERBILT

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: A local teacher is instructing graduates to address thank-you notes to Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, but to make the salutation read Dear Mrs. Smith. I have gone through your book and can only find that the note is directed to the wife. I interpret this to mean that both the envelope and the salutation should be to the wife only. (Although I understand that somewhere in the note the husband's participation in the gift should be acknowledged.) The teacher feels that you mean the note is to be addressed on the envelope to the couple, but inside only to the wife. In other words, we are reading the same thing but interpreting it differently. We both shall be grateful if you will straighten us out, particularly since she has the responsibility of instructing hundreds of young people in this art.--Mrs. T.L."

A thank-you note for entertainment is sent to the wife alone and is addressed to the wife. Mention, of course, may be made of the husband in the body of the note. A thank-you note for a gift from a couple may be addressed to the couple jointly (or to the wife alone). The reason for this is that the wife is responsible for the social activities of the household in the first instance.

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: I do not consider a note to the hostess necessary after having been to her party or dinner. This is a small town and we see everyone often. A telephone call, or to mention it when seeing the hostess in a day or so, is sufficient. In fact, the people we see so often would feel foolish receiving a note. Instead of a note afterward, the thoughtful person does something before the entertainment.

Make your favorite dip for her open house, take flowers from the garden, or order some from the florist. If I go out of town to an event, I write a note to the hostess. If I receive an invitation I cannot accept, I send or take something to the hostess beforehand with a few words of explanation -- Mrs. W.E."

I agree that local custom frequently must take precedent when it makes more sense. On the other hand, I, living in New York, frequently get little thank-you notes from my next door neighbors who are very mannerly indeed, so it is difficult for me ever to think of thank-you notes as incorrect.

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: You asked for post cards regarding motels allowing pets to stay in the rooms. When my two sons were little boys, they were highly allergic to dogs. On several different occasions, they developed severe asthma during the night when we were staying at motels. Please count me as one voter against the pets. Or at least, certain rooms should be made available where one could be sure no animal had been.--E.M."

This is a special problem I think you should have made it known to the motel before registering.

(For Amy Vanderbilt's booklet, "Letter Writing," send your name and address, plus 75 cents in coin, to Miss Amy Vanderbilt, (The Daily Eagle), P.O. Box 1066, Weston, Conn. 06880, requesting the booklet by name.)

MISS BROOKS

Brooks-Middlebrook

Trinity Episcopal Church has been reserved for the August 19 wedding of Patty Brooks and Chuck Middlebrook. Their engagement and nuptial date are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brooks of 47032 McBride Street, Belleville, parents of the bride-elect, who is a 1971 graduate of Belleville High School.

The prospective bridegroom, who resides at 6230 Western, Belleville, is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Stabau of 42337 Hayes, Belleville, and John Middlebrook of Adrian. A former Belleville High School student, he served for three years with the U.S. Army and is currently employed by the Ford Motor Company at Ypsilanti.

Ham insurance

A large canned ham in the refrigerator is especially valuable company dinner insurance in the summer when parties are often spontaneous and relatives or friends may drop in unexpectedly. A ham can be kept unopened in the refrigerator for several months. What if company doesn't materialize? No problem -- that ham will make a fine family meal with leftovers for satisfying salads and hearty sandwiches.

Kosin's first grad honored at party

A graduation party for Mark Kosin was held on Sunday, May 21, at the Elwell Road home of his parents, Chet and Mary Kosin. It was open house from one to five in the recreation room decorated with black and orange streamers and matching tablecloths. Centerpiece for the festivities was a sheet cake trimmed in the school colors, a graduate's cap, and "Congratulations, Mark!"

Dinner was prepared by Mark's mother with a helping hand from her sister, Fran Sewejkis of Dearborn Heights. Young Mary and Rita Kosin and Teresa Sewejkis handled the serving and clean-up chores for 100 guests.

The beautiful weather called for a ball game with many participants all afternoon. The four Kosin mini-bikes were all in working order so their cousins could all try their hands at driving.

Out-of-town guests arrived from Saginaw, Freeland, Bridgeport, St. Charles, Centerline and Rochester; with Mrs. Chester Kosin of Ft. Myers, Florida making the trip up for the graduation of her first grandchild.

Debbie is recent shower honoree

DEBBIE BARTON, daughter of the Cecil Bartons of Harmony Lane, was the honored guest at two recent pre-nuptial parties. The first, a luncheon, was given by Mrs. George Griffith and Mrs. Wilbur Crawford at the former's home on Barton Shore Drive in Ann Arbor.

The around-the-clock shower was attended by 30 women, all wives of General Motors personnel, who were assigned various hours of the day for their gifts to pertain.

The blue and white color scheme of the wedding was used in the table appointments and little white ceramic angels encircled the champagne punch bowl.

The bride-elect, who just completed her freshman year at Central Michigan University, will be married to Bob Perry, a senior engineering student at U. of M., July 22. Bob is the son of the Robert Perrys of Saline, formerly of Harmony Lane.

THIS PAST FRIDAY evening, Mrs. Leo Turney of Elwell Road played hostess at a second shower for Debbie. Assisted by Mrs. Joseph Moon, she tagged the event "kitchen" with scads of gifts for the culinary center being presented to the honoree throughout the party.

Bunco was the evening's entertainment and prizes went to Marianne Greenamyre, a Michigan State student from Valhalla, New York; Mrs. Joseph Apap, Mrs. William Szlinis, Mrs. Bert Smith, Mrs. Al Cicotte, Mrs. Richard Bleeker, and Kathy Bleeker.

The 20 guests watched the honoree finish unwrapping her gifts and then enjoyed a salad buffet, cold ham, and dessert.

Others attending the party were Mrs. William Doonan, Mrs. Ray Weber, Mrs. John Touse, Mrs. Gerald Miller, Mrs. Wilfred Mamo, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. Clifton Wenger, Mrs. Robert Perry, Mrs. Cecil Barton, Mrs. Floyd Thetford, Patti Perry, and Wendy Turney.

The First United Methodist Church in Ypsilanti has been reserved for the couple's summer wedding.

Gerald Robson, Gerry Rhodes exchange vows

Gerry Lynn Rhodes of Belleville and Gerald Dennis Robson of Taylor were married April 29 in a double ring, candlelight service at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville. Rev. Charles Dibley heard the young couple exchange marriage vows before an altar adorned with bouquets of white flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Rhodes of 6773 Sheldon Road, Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. Robson of 7748 Weddel, Taylor, are the bridegroom's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white flowered lace gown in the A-line mode. The floor-length dress featured long, sheer sleeves with wide cuffs, a V-neckline, a beaded belt, and detachable train.

HER BOUQUET was a cascade of white carnations, yellow sweetheart roses, baby's breath, and ivy and her fingertip veil was held by a crown of tiny beads.

Mrs. Sandy Ballard of Romulus was her sister's matron of honor in a gown similar to the bride's with the exception of the sleeves which were short and puffed. She held a bouquet of yellow flowers and wore a soft, wide-brimmed hat.

Bridesmaids in matching ensembles were another sister, Mary Rhodes of Belleville, and Connie Krajewski of Belleville. Their bouquets were comprised of green and yellow tipped carnations and yellow sweetheart roses tied with streamers to match the trim on their dresses.

Terri Ballard, five, was her aunt's flowergirl in a yellow floor-length frock and matching picture hat. Her colonial bouquet matched that carried by her mother, the honor attendant.

Ringbearer was Jerry Robson, five, son of the Robert Robsons of Belleville.

Gazebo eases lawn parties

Summer entertaining is a breeze with a gazebo incorporating built-in barbecue and storage area, wood counters, benches and decking.

The gazebo floor, measuring 12 feet square, has roof overhangs extending covered area to 18 feet. Deck and benches are built of Douglas fir or western red cedar.

Plans for the gazebo and four other outdoor projects are available for 15 cents in coin from Western Wood Products Assn., Dep. 539-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

In most climates, spring sun will give you a healthy glow. It is not too soon to use a sunscreen before outdoor activities. And remember, your eyes need protection too. The sun's rays are strong, now in the growing season. Prolonged exposure without sunglasses can give you ugly squint lines, a nagging headache, and even seriously reduce your night vision.

Better play it safe, wear sunglasses when you go out. Do make certain that the lenses effectively filter harmful rays and glare — turn a "hot" ray to a cool ray.

Polaroid lenses with cool-ray features have a molecular structure that cuts 98 percent of reflected glare and up to 96 percent invisible ultraviolet light. It is those invisible rays that sunburn your skin, and can hurt your eyes.

Once assured of quality lenses, you are free to concentrate on frames. Whether or not you are aware of it, you want them to fit as correctly as prescription specs. A frame should be painstakingly engineered to conform to the curves of your face and head for a protective fit. Of course, you want frames to be good-looking and flattering. In this connection, please note that the "fun-glasses" fad is over. New sunglasses styles are pure in shape and design. Both plastic and metal frames have clean lines. Colors are subtle, never blatant. A lovely outlook comes with a safe one.

THE EYES OF YOUTH You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, THE EYES OF YOUTH. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Local scouts to help rewrite promise, law

For the first time in 60 years, the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. is rewriting their promise and 3,000 local adult volunteers and 200 Senior Scouts are being asked to help. As part of a national review of the proposed promise, these women will receive the new version in the next two weeks and will be asked for their comments. These reactions will then guide the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council delegates when the promise comes up for adoption at the triennial national convention in Dallas, Texas, Oct. 22-25.

The local group representing scouts in Washtenaw, Livingston, northern Monroe and western Wayne counties will be headed by Mrs. James Kennedy of Ann Arbor, Council president.

The new promise and law were framed over a three-year period, starting with discussion by representative Girl Scout councils and continuing with scientific opinion sampling of upper elementary through high school age Girl Scouts. Returns were received from about 4,000 troops, representing more than 80,000 girls. Among these were two Huron Valley Council troops - Ypsilanti Junior Troop 435 of Kaiser School, led by Mrs. James Randolph, and Ann Arbor Junior Troop 615 of Wines School, led by Mrs. Guy Dean.

The delegation to the national convention from the Huron Valley Council includes Mrs. Louis Peppier, 827 Judith Street, Westland; Mrs. Roscoe Stuber, 1132 Burns Drive, Howell; and Mrs. Louis Galan, 4030 W. Loch Alpine, near Dexter and Ann Arbor women Mrs. Jane Bradbury, 2019 Norfolk, Mrs. Henry Schoch of 670 Hampstead Lane and Mrs. John Moyle of 2015 Commerce Street.

Ypsilanti women in the delegation are Mrs. Patrick Heck of 480 Owendale and Council staff members Miss Helen Danley, Miss Betty Hollenbaugh, Miss Sue Imel, Miss Louise Taylor and Executive Director Mrs. Jo Stevens. Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing of 12619 Beacon Hill Court in Plymouth will attend as a national volunteer.

PCHA gets federal funds for added facilities

A $600,000 federal grant for additions and improvements to Wayne's Annapolis Hospital and another Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) facility has been approved.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) approved the funds, distributed under the Hill-Burton Act, earlier this week.

The Hill-Burton program, in effect since 1945, provides for federal grants to assist in the capital financing of hospitals for a variety of construction programs.

Annapolis Hospital and Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park will receive $300,000 each for identical building improvements.

The PCHA board of directors approved a $5 million bond issue at its March 23 meeting to cover the additions and improvements for the two facilities. According to Dr. Karl S. Klicka, PCHA executive director, the authority applied for the funds through the Michigan Health Department.

The application then was reviewed by the HEW regional office in Chicago, and finally by the HEW office in Washington, D.C. The executive director said for bids sometime within the next two weeks and hopefully would begin construction in early July. The two additions will provide new enlarged X-ray departments, laboratories and physical medicine departments at the hospitals, plus substantially enlarged emergency rooms and new admitting areas to serve for the admission of both out-patients and in-patients.

22 earn diplomas

Twenty-two students participating in the Romulus Adult School program were presented with graduating diplomas on May 24 by School Supt. Robert L. McConeghy.

Nearly 200 friends, families and special guests participated in the pot luck dinner and awards ceremony, marking the largest graduating class since adult education was organized in Romulus two years ago.

John Domas, adult evening counselor, addressed the gathering and pointed out that one of the greatest of educational achievements is an adult's return to school to earn a high school diploma. He especially congratulated the adults who have demonstrated the necessary sacrifice and determination, as well as their families who also had to display understanding and encouragement.

Another highlight of the program involved the presentation of Adult Basic Education certificates by instructor James Nelms. Congratulating his students on their determination to gain basic education skills, Nelms presented awards to Clyde J. Green, Robert Coretes, Nettie Miller, Donald Costa, Margaret Booker and Samule Britton.

Those adults students receiving their high school diplomas included Carolyn Creameans, Linda Daywalt, Linda Fleming, Geraldine Flanigan, Richard Fulner, Paul Garrison, Judy Hickman, Joseph Hickman, Sandra Hicks, Betty Hill, Eugene Leschinski, Jimmie Ruth Massey, Margaret Meyer, Rebecca Miskol, Gerald Montour, Stephen Pollard, Robert Rivest, Margaret Roelens, Darwin Schoolmaster, Harold Skeels, Sharon Walker and Naomi Willis.

Students in the program who earned all "A" averages for the spring semester included Carolyn Creameans, Margaret Cole, Linda Fleming, Louis Kendall, Eugene Leschinski, Donald Rolls, Darwin Schoolmaster and Sharon Walker.

William Smith, Romulus Community School director, announced Sept. 18 would be the opening day of all semester classes. He urged anyone who is interested in returning to school this fall to contact him at the Romulus Board of Education, 941-1600, anytime throughout the summer for counseling and further information about the program.

Jail tax elections slated

Wayne County taxpayers will be asked to okay an expiring one mill operating levy and another half-mill for correctional facilities in the August and November elections.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners yesterday voted unanimously to put the one mill renewal question on the Aug. 8 primary in order to "maintain present minimum essential levels of service."

The half mill question will be placed on the November ballot as a special assessment levy for the construction of a new jail and juvenile facility and the employment of additional required deputy sheriffs and supportive staff.

The one mill renewal ($1 per $1,000 state equalized valuation) will be for a five-year period. It amounts to $5 per year on a home worth $10,000 and produces about $12.5 million in revenue annually.

The one mill levy originally was voted in 1964 and renewed in 1968. It is due to be levied for the last time on Dec. 1, 1973.

The Board of Commissioners has set a target date of Jan. 1 for the start of construction of a new county jail as the result of a Circuit Court order virtually requiring new jail facilities. The board also approved the recommendations contained in the Wayne County Correctional Needs Study prepared by Hellmuth, Obata & Kassabaum, Inc., HOK Associates, Inc. and Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

The consultants have recommended that a new downtown jail housing 750 inmates be built by 1975 at a cost of more than $21 million and that additional jail facilities be constructed by 1980, bringing the total cost up to around $40 million.

Graduate reacts to diploma

Eugene P. Leschinski of 10008 Romaine St., Romulus, was one of 22 adult graduates honored last week for completing requirements for his GED diploma at the Romulus Adult High School. Leschinski requested that this note to others contemplating completing their high school requirements be published to encourage them in their endeavor.

"I am 37 years old and have five children. I've been a mechanic at Leo Adler Datsun for 12 years. Last September I decided to continue my education, so I enrolled in Romulus High School Adult Education classes.

"I was very surprised to know that at my age there is still time to learn. Last January I decided to carry my education much farther, so I enrolled in Palmer College of Chiropractic in Davenport, Iowa. I was accepted and start college July 17, 1972.

"I'll have to move my family and begin a new life, but I feel that the future of my family is very important and the sacrifice will be for the betterment of myself and my family. I wish to thank the high school program for helping me to make this decision."

Other adult students also are making similar decisions after their experiences in adult education. Promotions and different job assignments are not unusual as one's education is advanced. Latest statistics indicate the average high school graduate will earn over $75,000 more in his lifetime than the average non-graduate.

If you decide, as have Leschinski and others, that it is never too late to learn, contact the Romulus Adult High School at 941-1600. Classes resume in September.

received the award in recognition of his community service with the Belleville Area Lions Club. He has served as charter secretary of the club as well as third vice-president, first vice-president and now president.

FINANCING ARRANGED - Permanent financing has been arranged by Citizens Mortgage Corp. of Southfield, for the development of the $2.5 million Village Green of Belleville complex. The site, to overlook Belleville Lake, will contain one-and two-bedroom garden court apartments and a convenience house. The general contractor is Holtzman and Zilverman, Village Green of Belleville partnership, and Norman H. Ziegelman, architect.

$2.5 million complex set for Belleville Lake

Permanent financing for the first phase of the Village Green of Belleville apartment complex, totaling $2,542,300, has been arranged by Citizens Mortgage Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of U.S. Industries, Inc., of Southfield.

Village Green of Belleville is a Michigan partnership. The general contractor is Holtzman & Silverman and the architect is Norman H. Ziegelman.

The planned development, with the tranquility of a small lakeside village and the convenience of a townhouse, will be a unique rental apartment community with frontage overlooking beautiful Belleville Lake. The project is located on the north edge of the City of Belleville in Van Buren Township. It is only 21 minutes to downtown Detroit.

The first construction phase will consist of the development of two buildings — one a 36-unit building and a clubhouse, the other one, a 132-unit building with 2½ storied garden apartments, consisting of studio, one-bedroom and two-bedroom apartments.

For leisure hours there is a $250,000 convenience center with spacious lounges, hand-somely appointed rooms for billiards, cards and meetings. In addition to these extra features, a private party room is provided for special events. For outdoor recreation, there is a lighted swimming pool.

The one-bedroom apartments will rent for $165-$175-$185, and the two-bedroom units will rent for $195-$200. These units contain patios, clubhouse, pool, air-conditioning, carpeting, laundry facilities and garbage disposals.

The apartment project, designed by Norman H. Ziegelman, AIA, Birmingham, is presently under construction with first occupancy expected in late fall of 1972.

Norman Ziegelman designed this complex on the premise that all apartments, in the 2½-story, 300-unit complex, have access to the recreation and service facilities in inclement weather without going outdoors.

Ziegelman stated, "Although these buildings may be the largest 2½-story structure in the United States, buildings have a human scale and warmth through the use of natural materials of redwood siding and brick."

The clubhouse is situated at the focal point of the complex. It has a huge natural fireplace, beamed ceilings, circular stair and suspended bridge connecting the third floor corridors.

At Village Green of Belleville, the frenzied pace of urban life is left far behind. It is hard to believe the city is so close by.

New recruiter assigned to area

Staff Sgt. Ronald Ames, a 1972 graduate of the U.S. Army Recruiter and Career Counselor School at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., has been assigned to the Wayne and Belleville Army Recruiting Station, his first recruiting duty assignment.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Sgt. Ames is married and lives in Belleville. A nine-year Army veteran, Sgt. Ames comes to his recruiting assignment from Pleiku, South Vietnam, where he was assigned to the MACV Tm 21 Advisor Group.

The new assignment is not only his first recruiting duty but also his first trip to Michigan.

He said he finds recruiting duty "a real challenge." "I requested the duty and I think I'm going to be happy with it."

Sgt. Ames can be contacted at the Wayne Post Office Building, 722-3388, or at 405 Main St., Belleville, 697-2664.

RAA members attend Indy 500

Twenty-nine students, members of the Romulus Automotive Association (RAA) club at Romulus Senior High School, attended the recent Indianapolis 500 race.

After a year's work doing car washes and car waxes and Christmas tree sales, the club earned approximately $900 for the trip.

The club members left from the high school at 3 a.m. on Saturday, May 27, and returned at 9:30 p.m. via a chartered, air-conditioned bus.

"When we got to the race, all members had reserved seats on the third curve. The race was very exciting with quite a bit of action around our curve," Mark Lewkowicz, club president, said.

"Many cars blew their engines and one car lost a wheel around our curve. There was only one wreck during the whole race and Mark Donahue was the winner, setting a new speed record of 163 miles per hour," Lewkowicz added. Two class instructors accompanied the students.

Negotiating teams meet for 4th time

The fourth negotiating session between the Van Buren Education Association and the Van Buren Board of Education was held recently.

At the session, the VBEA presented recommendations in the following areas: severance pay, teacher personnel files, teacher protection, teacher liability, contractualization of summer and evening schools, non-educational duties, consultation procedures, release of teacher personnel information and commencement date for negotiations.

Dale E. Kaulitz, school superintendent and chairman of the school board's negotiating team, explained his committee did not have the power to negotiate but to receive and listen to VBEA recommendations to the master agreement prior to commencement of negotiations.

The Sumpter Township Board has designated April 15, 1972, thru June 15, 1972, as "Clean Up and Beautify Sumpter Township Time."

You, a resident of Sumpter Township have an opportunity to help us do this by policing your own property and surrounding area of all unsightly items. Old stoves, refrigerators, washing machines, etc., that are no longer useable will be picked up if you call the Sumpter Township Hall at 461-6201 or 697-0900 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday and 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturdays. Junk cars will also be towed away free of charge by calling the above numbers.

We are asking each resident to eliminate any blight conditions on his property. We hope you will take advantage of this opportunity as our Police Department will be directed to issue violations for any blight conditions that exist in the Township after June 15, 1972.

Thank you for your cooperation.

THE SUMPTER TOWNSHIP BOARD

SUMPTER TOWNSHIP ANTI-BLIGHT ORDINANCE

Ordinance No. 16

An Ordinance to prevent, reduce or eliminate blight, blighting factors or causes of blight within Sumpter Township, Wayne County, Michigan; to provide for the enforcement hereof; and to provide penalties for the violation hereof.

By the authority granted to the Township by Act 344 of the Public Acts of 1945, as amended.

THE TOWNSHIP OF SUMPTER ORDAINS:

SECTION 1 - PURPOSE

Consistent with the letter and spirit of Act No. 344 of the Public Acts of 1945, as amended, it is the purpose of the ordinance to prevent, reduce or eliminate blight or potential blight in Sumpter Township by the prevention or elimination of certain environmental causes of blight or blighting factors which exist or which may in the future exist in said Township.

SECTION 2.

CAUSE OF BLIGHT OR BLIGHTING FACTORS

It is hereby determined that the following uses, structures and activities are causes of blight or blighting factors, which, if allowed to exist, will tend to result in blighted and undesirable neighborhoods. On and after the effective date of this ordinance no person, firm or corporation of any kind shall maintain or permit to be maintained any of these causes of blight or blighting factors upon any property in Sumpter Township owned, leased, rented, or occupied by such person, firm or corporation irrespective of how such property may be zoned, unless such uses, structures and activities are incidental to and necessary for the carrying out of any business or occupation lawfully being carried on upon the property in question.

A. The storage upon any property of junk automobiles, except in a completely enclosed building. For the purpose of this ordinance the term "junk automobiles" shall include any motor vehicle which is not licensed for use upon the highways of the State of Michigan for a period in excess of sixty days and shall also include, whether so licensed or not, any motor vehicle which is inoperative for any reason for a period in excess of 60 days.

B. The storage upon any property of building materials unless there is in force a valid building permit issued by the Township for construction upon said property and said materials are intended for use in connection with such construction. Building materials shall include but shall not be limited to lumber, bricks, concrete or cinder blocks, plumbing materials, electrical wiring or equipment, heating ducts or equipment, shingles, mortar, concrete or cement, nails, screws, or any other materials used in constructing any structure.

C. The storage or accumulation of junk, trash, rubbish or refuse of any kind, except domestic refuse stored in such a manner as not to create a nuisance for a period not to exceed thirty days. The term "junk" shall include parts of machinery or motor vehicles, unused stoves or other appliances stored in the open, remnants of wood, metal or any other material or other cast-off material of any kind whether or not the same could be put to any reasonable use.

D. The existence of any structure or part of structure which because of fire, wind or other natural disaster, or physical deterioration is no longer habitable, as a dwelling, nor useful for any other purpose for which it may have been intended.

E. The existence of any vacant dwelling, garage, or other outbuilding unless same are kept securely locked, windows kept glazed, or neatly boarded up and otherwise protected to prevent entrance hereto by vandals.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good day to keep appointments of importance where your business or career are concerned; you get the right results. Cooperate with associates more, too. See persons heretofore unavailable to you.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Start a new beginning at gaining whatever will make you a more prosperous and influential person. Your ideas are good and so is your ability to achieve. Get moving and all works to your benefit.

If your child is born today he or she will be one of those alert young people who wants to know what is going on around him or her and come up with fine ideas for improving conditions, ideas, situations, etc. Teach early to complete whatever has been started and you get your clever child off on a successful course of life. Otherwise you could have a rolling stone that gathers no moss. This logical mind will then become stable and persevering. Ethical training early, too.
